POWER AUTHORITY ASSAILS HOOVER IN TREATY ISSUE

Roosevelt Is Advised To Avoid Further 'Futile'
Correspondence With Administration on St.
Lawrence Issue.

'AFFRONT' CHARGED IN BODY'S LETTER

'Erroneous Assumption'
by President Scored;
Bad Faith Is Laid to Federal Leaders.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 20.—(AP)—New York state's power authority, which was appointed by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, indicated its belief tonight that New York's "state's rights" had been affronted by a display of bad faith by the federal administration in negotiating the St. Lawrence treaty.

The power authority advised the governor, who is the democratic presidential candidate, to avoid any further correspondence with the national administration in the St. Lawrence matter.

In a lengthy communication to the executive, the power body declared that President Hoover's telegram of July 10 to Mr. Roosevelt, in which he said St. Lawrence treaty negotiations had been under way nearly three years, "cannot be reconciled with the repeated declarations of the state department."

The state department the authority said, declared in the summer and fall of last year that "no negotiations whatsoever were under way or had been undertaken."

Hoover's "Assumption."

The year-old power authority declared that Mr. Hoover's telegram, in which he refused to discuss treaty negotiations with Mr. Roosevelt, was based upon an "erroneous assumption" that the federal government was in the conduct of international negotiations.

The president's assertion that he would be glad to consult with you and other governors' after ratification of the treaty, was the power authority wrote to the governor, "a direct violation of the repeated pledges of the state department."

The authority advised Mr. Roosevelt against a reply to the Hoover telegram and suggested that the forthcoming investigation of the treaty authorized by the United States senate will provide an opportunity for the state to secure full and just consideration of its rights.

The waterways treaty was signed July 18. The New York governor on July 9 suggested to the president that the two executives attempt to iron out in conference the difficulties arising from New York's protest against its share of the St. Lawrence project expense.

Hoover's Reply.

The president declined, saying: "While under our constitution international treaties fall within the sole jurisdiction of the federal government, nevertheless representatives appointed by you and leaders in other states primarily concerned have been consulted during the course of the negotiations."

"You will realize that neither you nor I have authority to enter upon agreements in respect to these domestic questions, but if the treaty is consummated and ratified, I shall be glad to consult with you and other governors."

Mr. Roosevelt tonight termed the

'Ma' Kennedy's Mate Gets Job To Bar Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 20.—(AP) Guy Edward Hudson, estranged husband of Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy-Hudson, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, has found a job.

He goes to work tomorrow as a cigar counter attendant and pool table caretaker in a recreation parlor in Boulder City.

Hudson came here several days ago, leaving the seaside cottage of his wife near Los Angeles a short time before she signed a divorce complaint. He said he would wait now to see if she would keep her agreement to live with him.

"She has always said if I got a job and went to work," he related, "she would come to me, no matter where it was. Now is her chance to make good."

POLICE TURN BACK VETERANS' MARCH ON WHITE HOUSE

Inspector Seizes Leader
by Throat, Hurls Him Back Among Fellows To End Abortive 'Drive.'

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(UP)—An elderly, white-mustached inspector grabbed the young leader of a small insurgent group of bonus marchers by the throat today and brought to an abrupt end a demonstration at the White House which had brought scores of heavily armed police hurrying to the scene.

The clash between the veterans and the police was a brief one. Within five minutes from the time the ragged marchers had left their brick-battled, blue-shirted police carrying side arms and tear gas bombs arrived at the White House.

Radio patrol cars and police motorcycles raced up and down Pennsylvania avenue. Streets for three and four blocks distant were blocked off.

A nearby park was cleared.

The huge iron gates leading into the White House grounds were closed immediately. Inside, in the executive offices President Hoover was already at work. Secret service men hovered near. Police were scattered at every entrance to the grounds and along the street in front of the structure.

Traffic Diverted.

All traffic was diverted. Tourists unable to understand the sudden development argued with stern-faced police to no avail. An old lady in a black dress wanted to mail a letter in a box nearby.

"Sorry, ma'am," said the officer, "I'll mail it for you." And he did.

About 10:30 a. m., John Pace, 35-year-old Lincoln Park, Mich., contractor and leader of the "insurgents," approached a group of police near the treasury building, across the street from the White House.

"You can't pass here," Inspector Albert J. Headley, who wears a pince-nez and is of the old school of police, said calmly.

Pace glared at him for a moment.

"Doesn't every public citizen have a right to walk on public streets?" he snapped, and started forward.

The powerful left arm of the old inspector, gold stripes gleaming from his blue sleeve, swept upward. His fingers fastened themselves about Pace's throat. Headley's sudden grabbed Pace by the coat lapel.

The inspector hurled the veteran's leader back among his colleagues. A threatening murmur came from the assembled veterans. There was a tense moment and then police reinforcements rushed up.

Pace and two of his lieutenants, Earl B. Johnson, 39, of Big Rapids, Mich., and Walter Eicker, were arrested immediately and taken to jail on charges of disorderly conduct.

"Well, said Headley after it was all over, "I stopped them single-handedly."

Then, he just as calmly went about his task of placing various officers in anticipation of another demonstration but none occurred. The "insurgents" returned to their billets and homes.

'Home Folk' Roar Tumultuous Welcome to Crisp And Pledge Loyalty of District at Americus 'Cue'

Americus celebrated the homecoming of Congressman Charles R. Crisp Wednesday with a monster barbecue and an address by Congressman Crisp, who is seeking the United States senate seat made vacant by the death of Senator William J. Harris. Above are four photos taken during the day. At the upper left is a group of Judge Crisp's friends from Meriwether county, Judge H. H. Revell, of the Greenville city court, Mayor E. B. Doyle, of Warm Springs, and W. L. Phillips, county warden. In the upper right Judge Crisp is shown addressing the gathering. In the lower left Congressman Crisp and his wife are shown with their two grandchildren, Charles R. Crisp IV and Virginia Crisp, while in the lower right Congressman Crisp is shown thanking Legionnaire Harvey Williams, who led the Legion's band in furnishing music for the occasion. More pictures of the Crisp demonstration may be found in page 8. Staff photos by Sandy Sanders.

AMERICUS, Ga., July 20.—South's first downstate address of his present campaign.

Long before 11 o'clock, the hour of his address, every available bench was taken in the big picnic grounds south of town, where the gathering was held, and hundreds were standing in the oppressive heat. Police estimated that it was the largest crowd in Sumter county in a generation. When Mr. Crisp began his address the crowd was large enough to have filled a big square block in any city. Scores of times he was interrupted by the crowd's cheering or an assurance we'll carry every county in the district for you."

During the course of his address he remarked that though he had served the old third district in the house of representatives for 20 years, he never did have serious opposition and that making a hard campaign was something new to him. He said that the speech today probably would be the only one he would make in his old district. Here one of his hearers interrupted.

"You don't have to make this one."

GEORGE F. WILLIS CAPITALIST, DIES

Proprietary Medicine
Genius and Real Estate
Developer Dies at 53.

A life of brilliant promotion and master salesmanship came to an end Wednesday morning for George Francis Willis, 53, of 1732 Ponce de Leon avenue, who died after an illness of several weeks. Funeral services for Mr. Willis will be held at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning from Spring Hill, with the Rev. Robert W. Burns, pastor of Peachtree Christian church, officiating. Interment will be in the city of Mr. Willis' birth, Waynesville, N. C.

Palbearers will be J. D. Robinson, F. O. Stone, Thomas B. Paine, J. P. Allen, Allen Conrad, W. A. Sutherland, F. S. Dean, Alex Smith and Ralph Smith. Honorary palbearers will be A. J. Orme Sr., Albert P. Tuttle, William Mesdorp, Thomas Alexander, Forrest Adair Jr., Eugene R. Black Sr., H. B. Kennedy and Ryburn G. Clay.

Born March 30, 1880, Mr. Willis attended public schools of Waynesville, N. C., and Bingham Military school, Asheville, N. C. His first connection with proprietary medicines, a business which later was to bring him fame and fortune, was in Knoxville, Tenn. Recognizing the value of the business for making money, he entered the field for himself, and in 1913 founded International Proprietary, Inc., of the United States and Canada, of which organization he became president.

Mr. Willis' first successful venture of importance was the launching of Tanlac, a proprietary medicine which brought him millions of dollars before he sold out to S. A. Lynch in 1922 for more than $1,000,000. His next big venture was the development and marketing of Zonite, an antiseptic preparation developed from the famous Dakin's solution of the World War. This antiseptic was concocted by Henry D. Dakin and Dr. A. Carroll, but it took Mr. Willis, who observed its use during the war, to engage chemists and find a way of keeping it in solution so that it could be sold to the public in bottles.

Mr. Willis sold his stock in Zonite to the Huttons, of New York, and then entered the real estate field. In 1926 he began developing Avondale Estates, just east of Decatur, and within a remarkably short time he created a beautiful little town of handsome resi-

Capone Not Surly or Unruly, Says Released Pen Prisoner

BY ROY ROBERT.

From the gray stone walls and gridded iron cages of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, an authentic account of prisoner No. 40,886 came Wednesday. Al Capone is the name written opposite that number in department of justice records, the name which at one time was jotted along a single figure—Public Enemy No. 1, of Chicago.

It was Wednesday morning that Dr. H. W. Bradshaw, of Memphis, Tenn., and former Atlanta practitioner, walked through the heavy gates a free man for the first time in 33 months. His service in the clinic at the prison threw him into contact with Capone, a contact which grew into a close friendship—that strange, comradely friendship which grows behind the walls of prison.

"Reports that Capone is surly and aloof from other prisoners are untrue," said Dr. Bradshaw. "He is friendly to all except junk peddlers and rats."

"Junk" is the prison term for dope and "rats" are dealers in vice and white slave victims. Capone was known to despise both before he topped from his throne of Chicago's underworld king.

According to Dr. Bradshaw, Capone is jovial and friendly with other inmates. His daily routine keeps him busy in the prison shoe shop during most of the daylight hours, but in

TUCKER RETIRES, LAUDS TALMADGE

Candidate, Withdrawing
From Race, Sees State
Farm Head as Victor.

Declaring that he had become convinced that "the one candidate who represents the heart beats of the masses of the people of Georgia is Eugene Talmadge," Arlie D. Tucker, speaker of the house and candidate for governor, Wednesday announced his withdrawal from the gubernatorial contest.

"After I made my announcement and began my campaign," Tucker said, "special interests and combinations immediately brought out a large number of candidates for governor. It is very evident to me now that these special interests and combinations will prevent me from obtaining an endorsement necessary to carry out my platform."

Tucker's withdrawal statement, in full, read:

"To the people of Georgia: "When I entered the race for governor of Georgia, I had a passion to serve the people in the same manner that I had served as speaker of the house of representatives for the past two years. When I made my announcement for governor, the major two principles must prevail. (1) The reduction of the crushing tax burdens on an already over-taxed people, and (2) the reduction in the enormous cost of our state and county governments. I knew the condition of our people in Georgia, and I knew if relief were given to our people, these two principles must prevail."

"After I made my announcement and began my campaign, special interests and combinations immediately brought out a large number of candidates for governor, who threatened to defeat the two principles on which I announced and maintain and continue the crushing tax burden upon our people. It is very evident to me now that these special interests and combinations will prevent me from obtaining the support necessary to carry out my platform. I am financially unable to maintain a successful campaign against these special interests and combinations, and I have decided that it is futile to continue my fight against these special interests, who have brought out so many candidates."

"To the thousands of loyal friends in every section of Georgia who have so unflinchingly supported me, I give this expression of my loyalty, love and affection, and release them from their pledges to vote for me. Having visited every section of the state during my campaign for governor, and having listened to the people talk everywhere

20,000-Gallon Still Seized in Gotham

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—An old five-story building in Brooklyn that used to be a warehouse became a scene of activity again five months ago. Men bustled in and out, trucks unloaded material, saws and hammers were heard. Prohibition agents watched.

Yesterday the work appeared finished. Today they made a raid.

They reported finding a 20,000-gallon still in operation. 21 vats, ranging in capacity from 5,000 to 20,000 gallons, mash, and other equipment which they valued in all at $200,000.

They found out, too, what most of the saving of rum was about. The occupants had escaped by an elaborate system of trapdoors and secret chutes.

CRISP CHALLENGES RUSSELL'S FITNESS FOR SENATE SEAT

Governor's Record in Office
Scored at Americus.
Russell's Inactivity in '28 Campaign Attacked.

(Text of Crisp's Speech in Page 8.)

AMERICUS, Ga., July 20.—More pages were torn from the Russell office-holding and party record book today by Congressman Charles R. Crisp to challenge the fitness of the 34-year-old governor for a democratic seat in the United States senate.

To a charge of "gross ignorance of national legislation," the third district congressman, asking the voters of Georgia to elect him to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator William J. Harris, added the question of Russell's loyalty to the party in 1928 and coupled with it a new indictment of the governor's inactivity in his first radio speech, Congressman Crisp observed.

"The differences between him and me is that my record will stand investigation by the people, the closest research of it will have called attention to his record, which is vulnerable and will not stand criticism, and when in a frank and reasonable way I showed its inconsistencies he pleaded the baby act and threw himself on the mercy of the public. There is an old saying 'the bird flutters, and the governor is truly fluttering.'"

Stripped of any of the familiar tricks of campaign performers, the veteran member of the Georgia delegation confidently asserted that the folks in the old third knew his public and private life as an open book, and that he was not a candidate from a canvass of the district he has served for 20 years and invited the rest of Georgia to put that public and private record under a microscope.

With characteristic calmness and a typical burst of the earnestness which has won universal acclaim for his political integrity, Congressman Crisp took up the oft-repeated question Governor Russell has been asking in speeches about the so-called conference with Preston Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company.

It amounted to this: Arkwright went to Washington. He sought a meeting with Crisp. The Georgia congressman, acting as chairman of the ways and means committee, was engaged. Later they met for a 10-minute interview when congress had recessed for dinner.

"He," Crisp related, referring to Arkwright, "argued against any tax on electric energy, either on the consumers or the companies, saying electric would be disastrous to the companies and he was opposing any tax on electric energy."

"I listened to him," Crisp continued, "and replied that I was going my limit, irrespective of any political consequences to me, to get a tax bill that would raise sufficient money to balance the budget—for the credit of the United States had to be maintained."

But the congressman, not as a district-grabbing representative of a section but as the democratic leader of the national legislative body, talked with others—also.

"During the consideration of this tax bill," he recounted, "I talked to

BERLIN IS PLACED UNDER GUN RULE BY FEDERAL MOVE

VON PAPAN TAKES ROLE OF DICTATOR

Prussian Leaders Charge
Move Is Unconstitutional and Plan Immediate Appeal to Courts.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

BERLIN, July 20.—(AP)—The federal government set up a dictatorship today over the entire state of Prussia, declaring martial law in Berlin and the province of Brandenburg and sweeping out of office every member of the Prussian state cabinet.

This drastic action precipitated the worst constitutional conflict since the founding of the reich in 1871.

The Prussian authorities, declaring the dictatorship to be contrary to law, refused to yield to the demands of the federal government except by force and in many cases force was used.

Berlin was under heavy guard to night and machine guns were mounted in the court in front of the federal chancellery. Every precaution was being taken to prevent disorders.

Soldiers marched into and occupied the Prussian ministry of state in the Wilhelmstrasse. A squad of armed reichswehr arrested Adolf Grzesinski and Bernhard Weiss, president and vice president of the Prussian police, and a few minutes later a reichswehr officer and 12 steel-helmeted privates took into custody Colonel Hugo Heilmann, Berlin chief of police.

Von Papan Rules.

Under an emergency decree issued by President Paul von Hindenburg, Chancellor Franz von Papan became federal commissioner administering the state of Prussia. He named Lord Mayor Franz Bracht, of Essen, as deputy commissioner. One of Bracht's first acts was to attempt to take over the state ministry of interior, and he encountered plenty of trouble.

That ministry has for years been under Dr. Karl Severing, sworn foe of the present federal regime and of its move to sweep away the state government.

"You've got no business here," Dr. Severing told Herr Bracht. "I'm still minister of the interior and I will look up the minister of the interior."

The deputy commissioner went back to the chancellery and talked things over with Chancellor Von Papan. Several hours later a police captain of the new administration turned up at the interior ministry, threatening to drag Dr. Severing out. So Dr. Severing yielded his post. He was not arrested.

The authorities of the Prussian state took their contention that the dictatorship was unconstitutional to the federal government.

COACH LINE FILES PLEA OF PAUPER

Hood Company, by Action, Avoids Bond Posting in $16,000 Judgment.

Hood Coach Lines, Inc., operators of a fleet of large buses between Atlanta and Columbus, has filed a pauper's affidavit in connection with an appeal of a $16,000 verdict rendered against the company in the city court of Greenville, according to James A. Branch, attorney for Mrs. E. D. Brown, of Atlanta, who sued the coach company.

"Mr. Hood, president of the company, swore that the company, because of its poverty, was unable to give the bond required in such cases," Mr. Branch said. "Thus, a company

Woodcock Sees Buyer As Real Rum Culprit

NEW ORLEANS, July 26.—(AP)—speaking at a luncheon tendered in this hotel by prohibition adherents in New Orleans, Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock, federal director of prohibition, said the illicit liquor purveyor was "the real culprit" in dry law violations.

"The buyer is the person to blame," said Woodcock. "He is the one who causes so many people to be sent to the penitentiary. The demand for drink could be decreased by proper educational methods."

The local W. C. T. U., Y. M. C. A., and the New Orleans committee on prohibition attended the function.

which operates a fleet of buses, by resorting to giving a pauper's affidavit, evaded the law requiring that a bond be given after a judgment has been rendered in order to carry the case to the higher court.

Judge Revell, of the city court of Greenville, denied the coach company a new trial, and the coach company filed appeal papers Monday, Mr. Branch said. Mrs. Brown was injured on July 2, while returning to Atlanta from Columbus with her husband and daughter, Helen, after a visit to relatives. About a mile north of Greenville one of the buses of the Hood line, in attempting to pass the Browns' automobile, sideswiped the car and turned it over; the automobile landing in the edge of a field across a ditch. Mr. Branch said.

"This was true notwithstanding the fact, as shown by a large number of witnesses, that Mr. Brown, who was driving the car, pulled the car partly off the pavement and was driving with about half the car on the shoulder of the road at the time, having thus given the bus more than three-quarters of the paved portion of the highway," Mrs. Brown's right hand was mutilated and practically torn off," Mr. Branch said.

Friday Morning Deadline For Panther Woman Entry

Atlanta Girls To Be Selected For Film Tests Which Will Go to Hollywood.

Rapid approach of the 11:30 o'clock Friday morning deadline for entering the Panther Woman contest of The Constitution and the Paramount theater, Wednesday, Sept. 27, Whitaker, manager of the Paramount, has been making calls for information from prospective entrants.

The entry list grew steadily Wednesday and is expected to increase by leaps and bounds today. The barrier toward Hollywood and film fame and fortune will be hurdled by an Atlanta girl at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, when judges of the local contest will select the best 25 contestants and will notify them by telephone and telegraph of their selection. The 25 girls will assemble at the Paramount theater at 11 o'clock Friday night for their talking picture tests.

The last show audience Friday night will be permitted to witness the taking of the film tests of the girls who are competing with their good looks and voices for the opportunity of playing the role of Panther Woman in H. G. Wells' "Island of Lost Souls," to be produced by Director Norman Taurog, of Paramount Studios. A musical background will be provided for the tests, which will require about an hour. The entire 25 film tests, 2,200 feet of film, will be run at the Paramount for a week beginning Saturday. The special feature of the program, Pictures of the 25 girls will appear in Sunday's Constitution.

Manager Whitaker, Wednesday said that any type of photograph may be entered by the contestant, but that it is preferable to have a bust picture and a kodak picture of the full figure, although a clear kodak snapshot, full length, will do.

In addition to the opportunity of winning a five weeks contract at $200 a week with Paramount studios, expenses paid, in the national contest, the lucky Atlanta girl will also receive a number of prizes donated by local merchants. These prizes include a season pass from the Paramount theater, a traveling toilet set from Minor and Carter, druggists, two pairs of Foothealth shoes from Dr. Rudolph and Law of the Foothealth Shop, six pair of hose from Pincushes, $15 in dry cleaning from Sig Samuels and Company, and a beautiful set of candy from the Nunnally Company.

Wednesday's entries follow: Kathryn Flour, Mary Juanita Gossage, Kitty Norvell Willson, Rosemary Opal Sinyard, Sarah Tucker, Grace Caudell, Elizabeth Grant, Mary Nichols, Ruth Barrett, Grace Wauhs, Mary Lou Galtin, Louise Leonard, Aylene Bryant, Mrs. Gladys Cassidy, Sylvia Ruth Browning, Frances Baxter, Estelle Brooks, Eugene Shier, Marceline Bowen, Laura Hernandez, Elsie Phillips, Miss Eunice Richy, Mary Beavers, Hettie Hopkins.

Flexible Work Day Favored As Re-Employment Solution

Hoover Asked by New Englanders To Call Conference To Aid Industry in Meeting Problem.

BOSTON, July 20.—(AP)—President Hoover today was asked by a New England joint conference on re-employment to call a national conference which would effect an organization sponsoring the flexible work day and week as a part solution of the unemployment problem.

The conference was attended by more than 100 widely known executives, economists, labor and industrial leaders, college presidents and social workers. It was called by the New Hampshire unemployment relief committee and the Massachusetts commission on the stabilization of unemployment, and discussed during its session the "New Hampshire plan for re-employment," which was based on the principle of flexibility.

The conference found that "unemployment continues with increasing problems, despite all efforts to curb the lessening of business activity and to achieve job security by job-sharing, seems imperative."

"The New England joint conference on re-employment," said a resolution adopted by the conference as a whole, "respectfully requests the president of the United States to consider the wisdom of calling a national conference immediately, at which there can be effected an organization which will help make operative throughout the states a shorter and more flexible work day and week, by which new employment may be offered to some millions of people, approximating, it is hoped, an additional 10 per cent to the number of people now under employment, this plan to be put into effect without increasing operating costs of business, without necessarily increasing plant investments and without increasing inventories, by, for illustration, small contributions to be deducted from pay rolls of wage earners still employed at least two-thirds of their normal hours and by the necessary remaining contributions from salaried executives and owners of the business."

Individual resolutions approving the "New Hampshire plan" which in substance was the basis for the conference resolution were adopted by groups representing governors of New England states, business and industry, agriculture and social agencies. The governors commended it to governors of other states.

The resolution adopted by the labor group did not endorse the "New Hampshire plan" by name, but said that "even if so-called good times return, there is no indication that there will be enough work to justify our eight-hour day standards."

"Labor does not ask," said this resolution, "to be paid for eight hours when it works six; but it asks that the rate per hour be adequate so that the families of workers may be properly provided for. Labor does not recede from its fundamental policy and sincere belief that permanent improvement can come only from an increased reward to the worker for his share in production. The need for flexibility is recognized by labor and the abuse of flexibility is known quite well from experience."

The plan was developed by Harold M. Davis, of Nashua, N. H., a member of the New Hampshire unemployment committee, and has received the approval of many leaders of industry.

Davis said economic conditions required that 3,000,000 persons be put to work and that proof be given the entire population that the nation's industrial machine does not "ruthlessly discard millions of workers."

The New Hampshire plan, he said, suggested doing this on a national scale and, to do it without "revolutionary changes, every individual business must work out its own method within a flexible framework of sound economic and business principles."

The framework suggested by Davis would apply the principle of flexibility to: the number of persons employed; arrangement of hours; method of payment; method of starting, and future developments.

The plan would begin by adding 10 per cent of the unemployed to the 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 now employed in full or part time. Hours of employment of persons would be shortened and of much less lengthened, thus reducing overhead and allowing leisure for workers in large and useful amounts. The exception to this would be in the case of executives, foremen and specially trained workers.

FORD CAR EXHIBIT TO OPEN THURSDAY

The complete new line of the Ford V-8 and 4-cylinder cars as well as the new Ford trucks will be shown in an open air show staged by Atlanta Ford dealers at Peachtree street and Linden avenue, N. E. The show will begin Thursday and continue through Saturday from 8 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night.

Mayor Key is expected to open the show officially, and a parade of Ford units headed by the milk fund band will precede the opening. The show is sponsored by Ford dealers as follows: Ernest Brantley, C. E. Freeman, Grant Motor Company, McClain-White Motor Company and Robert Ingram, of Decatur.

A cutaway chassis and displays of important parts will also be shown. Motion pictures will show the new cars in action. The Lincoln car, also a Ford product, will be seen.

Visitors will be given an opportunity to ride in the cars, and experts will explain details of construction. Business men will be especially interested in the truck exhibit. Attendants will explain the possibilities of trucks as well as the cars. Admission will be free and visitors will be given free parking space.

DOCTOR WILL ANSWER CHARGES IN OPERATION

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 20.—(AP) Dr. Richard E. Thacker, 60, was returned here today from Springfield, Ark., to answer murder charges in the death last April of Robbie Lou Thompson, telegraph company employee, allegedly from a criminal operation.

The physician, who also was sought in connection with the death of Mrs. Frank Lee, University of Oklahoma co-ed, denied he confessed to J. D. Lichlyter, chief of police at Springfield, that he had operated on Miss Thompson after she pleaded with him. "I didn't make any confession at all," he said.

He will be arraigned tomorrow. He was sought three months.

Another doctor and an osteopath face charges here as the outgrowth of an investigation into the deaths of 20 young women.

DEATH TOLL OF HEAT IS INCREASED TO 170

Over Score More Lives Are Added to Fatality List Wednesday.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(UP)—The death toll in 30 states mounted today to 170 as the July heat wave continued through its eleventh day with little indication of immediate relief. Hailstorms, lake breezes and drenching rains brought temporary relief to small sections within the vast heat-blistered area, but temperatures around 100 degrees prevailed over most of the territory.

Following closely the trend of the 1930 heat wave which claimed 1,500 lives, the scorching sun rays and scorching winds today brought death to more persons than they had on Tuesday. Just as in 1930, when the death toll began to increase rapidly after the tenth day, so today did the number jump suddenly, surpassing by five the average of 15 daily since July 9.

Indications were that by tomorrow morning, when a more complete check-up will be possible, the death list for today will mount to 25 or more.

In Chicago the temperature again climbed today to around the 95 mark. In Indianapolis the mercury went up 13 degrees to 90 in four hours. In southwestern states, notably Kansas and Oklahoma, temperatures higher than 100 again were common. Most of Texas gained temporary relief through hail rains. A hailstorm cooled off Butte, Mont., last night.

Central Illinois, where all-time heat records were threatened today, was promised temporary relief tomorrow.

At Springfield the mercury has stood close to 100 daily for a week.

Corn in Indiana, where the temperature went to 101 at Marion, thrived under the extreme heat, but, offsetting this, so did the grasshoppers out in Iowa.

Dry Forces Will Open Headquarters in Chicago

CHICAGO, July 22.—(AP)—The prohibition party's national committee announced it would open western headquarters in Chicago for the presidential election campaign.

Edward D. Blake, of Wheaton, Ill., recently elected executive chairman of the party, predicted 12,000,000 members of the Women's Law Enforcement League would vote for the prohibition party's candidate, William D. Uphaus, of Georgia, and Frank S. Regan, of Rockford, Ill., for vice president.

RULING INDICATES JUDGE MAY ALLOW NEGROES TO VOTE

HOUSTON, Texas, July 20.—(AP)—Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly today refused to enjoin the democratic party in this county to permit negroes to vote in primaries, but at the same time upheld the contention that their exclusion was violative of their constitutional rights.

He denied a mandamus to Julius White, negro, but in the opinion stated it was because of the "nature of his (White's) prayer." It thus appeared a change in pleadings might afford White opportunity to force the party to permit him and other negroes to vote.

Judge Kennerly specifically denied the main contention of the defendants—the Harris county democratic executive committee—that the party had the inherent power to determine the qualifications of its membership.

It once had that power, he held, but long since had surrendered it, by acceptance of various grants of power from the state, until now it has become "a child and agency of the state, abandoning its own inherent powers and choosing to conduct its affairs under grants of power from the state."

Hoover's Radio Division Transfer Will Not Change Atlanta Office

President Hoover's executive order Wednesday abolishing the radio division of the department of commerce and transferring its activities to the federal radio commission, will not affect the personnel of the division, according to Major W. Van Nostrand, head of the southeastern division with offices in the Atlanta federal building.

Major Van Nostrand has just returned from Washington, and said that he knew the order had been prepared.

"It is part of the economy bill," he said. "It will have no effect on the personnel of the Atlanta office, the members of which will retain their grades and compensation even if their titles are changed."

"The whole effect of the order is to separate the division from the department of commerce and put it under the supervision of the radio commission. This may result in minor economies of operation."

"We are, in effect, a field force charged with the enforcement of the radio law, and our duties are to inspect radio stations and check their operation. We shall retain our present quarters, the only change being the elimination of the department of commerce from sign on the door."

There are ten people in the Atlanta division who have supervision of six southeastern states and Porto Rico. The pay roll is $27,000 a year and the overhead expense about $30,000, a total of slightly more than $60,000.

The consolidation was a comparatively small one. It turned over to the radio commission the entire $490,000 appropriation of the radio division and its 130 employees, 153 of them outside of Washington, along with all records and public property of the division.

"The federal radio commissions," Mr. Hoover said in his executive order, "is hereby authorized and directed to dismiss officers and employees not indispensable to the service, to make such changes in titles, designations and duties of said officers and employees as it may deem necessary, and to return to the treasury all appropriations or unexpended balances thereof not necessary to the maintenance of said commission."

BURIAL IN SAVANNAH FOR MISS WOODBERRY

The body of Miss Rosa Woodberry, distinguished Atlanta educator, who died Monday night at her home, 149 Peachtree circle, was taken to Savannah Wednesday night following funeral services at All Saints' Episcopal church. Bishop H. J. Mikell and Dr. W. W. Memminger officiated at the services here.

Bishop F. F. Reese will officiate at services in Bonaventure cemetery, Savannah. Daughters of the Confederacy and members of the Savannah Woman's Club will have representatives at the funeral. Miss Woodberry formerly taught in the coast city, and came to Atlanta about 30 years ago.

STRIKERS ARE OFFERED OLD WAGE SCALE

HIGH POINT, N. C., July 20.—(AP)—Operators of strike-closed hosiery mills here late today authorized the High Point Enterprise to announce to strikers that they might return to work immediately at the wage scale in effect prior to reductions 10 days ago which led to a general walk-out during the past two days.

Strike leaders took the proposal under advisement and had not reached a decision tonight.

ATLANTA FIRM GETS FLA. ROAD CONTRACT

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—Reversing itself today, the state highway commission rescinded its previous action in awarding two road construction contracts to a Florida firm which was not the low bidder on the projects and gave both awards to the low bidder which is an out-of-state company.

In breaking the standing rule by giving contracts to other than the low bidder, the commission this morning said it did so in line with the federal government's emergency relief program which calls for giving all possible work to resident firms and laborers.

The commission reconsidered its action after the J. B. McCrary Company, of Atlanta, low bidder on two projects, objected to the Florida firm, which was not low bidder, getting contracts. Awards had been given to the Van Gordon Construction Company, of Jacksonville, the McCrary company objected on the ground it was the low bidder and fully responsible to carry out the contract.

MISSISSIPPI APPROVES BUDGETS FOR SCHOOLS

JACKSON, Miss., July 20.—(AP)—Tentative budgets for each of the six state institutions of higher learning drafted by the presidents of each college, were approved by the budget committee of the central board of control at a meeting here today. The budget for each school, however, will not be made public until given approval by the entire board. Smith said, The board will meet here tomorrow.

PUBLISHERS ARE TOLD OF CAROLINA PROJECT

Plan Whereby Farmers' Income Is Boosted Interests S. N. P. A.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 20.—(P)—Newspaper publishers from all over the south heard the story of how western North Carolina is building toward prosperity by increasing the income of its farmers through a comprehensive program organized under the five-year farm plan, at the final session of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association today.

The publishers evinced keen interest as Bruce Webb, promotion manager of the Asheville Citizen and Times, related the manner in which 18 mountain counties are tackling the problem of helping the farmer boost his income to the point where prosperity will once again dwell in the hill country.

Webb briefly sketched the history of the movement and then told how concerted effort in every community is laying the foundation for a new agricultural prosperity.

Outlining a survey made with the idea of determining just what the mountain counties were buying from outside in the way of foodstuffs, Webb said:

"The results of that survey were in some cases appalling. We found some of the counties were being drained of money to purchase products that might just as well have been produced in that county. When these facts were brought to light, farm leaders set to work to produce that food and to secure markets for it in their own counties."

Webb was bombarded by questions from publishers interested in instituting similar movements in their own communities.

H. V. Jenkins, of the Savannah (Ga.) News and Press, announced that manufacture of newspaper and other paper from pine pulp will begin within a few days.

Jenkins made his announcement at the closing session of the convention. The Savannah member briefly outlined the progress of the research work in connection with the use of southern pine for paper making purposes.

With results obtained in the experimental paper mill at Savannah already far advanced, he said, it has been definitely assured that the manufacture of the product will begin without delay.

In connection with the new industry, Mr. Jenkins pointed out that there are 10,000,000 acres of slash pine in Georgia, Florida and other southern states, while in the Carolinas, Virginia and neighboring states there are 100,000,000 acres of long-leaf and loblolly pine.

The convention adjourned this afternoon, and most of the members left for their homes.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

IS ASSAILED BEFORE N. E. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(P)—A plea that newspapermen assume leadership in a movement to take the government out of business and away from interference with private industry was made at the final session here today of the National Editorial Association by C. D. Morris, of Chicago, representative of the Western Railways Public Relations Commission.

"All the railroads of America need to put the pulse back in American business is to give them a fair chance," he said.

Morris pointed out a specific instance in what he termed needed revision of taxes. A bus line, he told the editors, running from Miami, Fla., to Washington, D. C., paid an annual fee of only $30, while railroads covering the same distance paid an average tax of $250 a mile.

PREFERENCE FOR NEWSPAPERS

SHOWN BY ADVERTISERS.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(P)—Major industries continue to show a preference for newspaper advertising over that of other mediums, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association reported today.

The association's bureau of advertising announced the results of a survey showed 435 national advertisers spent $143,465,000 in newspaper advertising last year. Magazine space was used by 190 of these firms to the extent of $78,317,815 and 121 used radio broadcasts entailing an expenditure of $21,223,852.

The bureau reported that newspapers were the favored medium in 25 of the 32 industrial groups represented.

JAMES D. WATSON, 62,

PASSES IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—(P)—James D. Watson, 62, assistant to the president of the Cotton Belt railroad, died unexpectedly at his home here today.

In 1901 he was made division freight agent of the system at Little Rock, Ark., and was general traffic manager of the road from 1920 to 1929 when he was appointed assistant to the president. His widow, two sons and a daughter survive.

TUCKER'S WITHDRAWAL

EXPECTED — EDWARDS

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., July 20.

(P)—C. B. McCullar, manager for H. B. Edwards, candidate for governor, stated Wednesday that the withdrawal of Arlie Tucker from the race was not unexpected.

"Mr. Edwards, in a speech three weeks ago in Tucker's home town, predicted that Tucker would be out of the race in less than a month," said Mr. McCullar. "He also stated that Tucker is an employee of Eugene Talmadge, so the effort to throw his support to his own boss is not surprising. Mr. Edwards at the same time promised to 'run out' a number of other gubernatorial candidates, a promise which will soon be fulfilled."

Mr. McCullar said that Mr. Edwards made five speeches in south Georgia on Wednesday and that everywhere he is being received with acclaim.

UTILITY RATE SLASH IS SOUGHT FOR N. C.

Companies Ordered To Confer With State Corporation Group.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 20.—(P)—Public utility companies operating in North Carolina today were ordered to have representatives confer with the state corporation commission "with a view to effecting such immediate reductions in rates as may be legitimately possible under present conditions."

Dates for the conferences have not been set.

The commission's order stipulated that "all electric, gas and telephone utilities operating properties" are included.

In a preamble to its order, the commission said it has completed an investigation undertaken "with the expectancy of saying to our state the enormous amounts appropriated by the legislatures of other states to special commissions to investigate utilities, which investigations have in numerous instances proven absolutely futile and become obsolete before being completed."

The survey was "made with a view to adjustment of rates in response to the demands of this unprecedented period of depression," the order states. It was made with the commission cognizant of the inability of the public to pay almost any rate and also that the law requires the commission to fix such rates as will yield to the utilities a fair return on the capital invested in the property which they devote to the public use.

In making this order, "the document states, 'this commission can only hold out to the public the assurance that it shall not be required to pay greater rates than justified,' and cites examples of how the depression has hit utilities, including a loss of 4,000 subscribers in this state by one telephone company."

Mountain township, was in jail here today charged with poisoning 11 of his children.

Police said they believed the negro put a poison used to kill boll weevils into flour used at his home. His wife was not affected but the children are in a critical condition.

Much of U. S. Trade in Balance As British Conference Opens

RAINEY SEES PERIL LURKING IN TARIFF

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(P)—Representative Rainey, the democratic leader, said today in discussing the forthcoming British imperial trade conference that "the policy of high tariff walls around the British empire is a most dangerous policy for us."

"Already 1,200 factories have moved to Canada so that they can sell their goods within the empire and they are received with open arms," Rainey said. "It is the result of our foolish policy of isolation."

BY FRANK I. WELLES.

OTTAWA, July 20.—(P)—Nine nations of the British empire will host their banners above Canada's parliament building tomorrow and set about the very serious business of attending to better economic conditions for their 450,000,000 people.

In a sense they will be as much at war with a common enemy as when their colors were massed on the battlefields of France. Certainly their determination of purpose is as profound.

The United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Newfoundland, South Africa, India, Southern Rhodesia and the Irish Free State—all of them subscribed to the tenet of J. H. Thomas, British secretary for dominions: "We will not think of failure. We will not talk of failure. The people want us to succeed and we intend not to deceive them."

If all the crown subjects respond as have those here in Ottawa to the pre-convention approach, bitter disappointment would attend any failure by the conference to clear the way for the return of empire prosperity.

"Tell the United States," they say in public places, "that we are getting ready to make money again. London didn't send seven members of the British cabinet here for nothing."

The display of dependence on Great Britain by a country which claims no closer tie than formal allegiance to the crown is regarded as remarkable by Canadian observers. They say it reflects the utter utility of hope from any other direction unless American-Canadian tariffs can be adjusted downward to mutual advantage on both sides of the international line.

But Ottawa is determined to protect its infant industries against American competition, and Washington is determined to defend the farmer, who looks askance at Canadian bacon, beef, cattle, grain, potatoes, dairy products and maple sugar.

So Canada joins with the other nations flying the Union Jack around the globe in bargaining among themselves for trade preferences while the United States ponders the possible effect on what in normal times amounts to around $2,000,000,000 worth of her exports.

American observers here do not believe the conference will be allowed to make any move likely to precipitate American-British tariff conflicts.

Unable within themselves completely to absorb the empire's imports and exports, the British nations, including the mother country, need the rich American market. At the peak, the empire nations sold an average of $1,500,000,000 in goods annually to the United States.

Americans generally have been so involved in their own economic problems that they scarcely have had time to consider the forces which have made this eleventh British conclave the possible agency of at least temporary disadvantages to themselves.

For the first time in peace, Britain is in "the red." Her income from foreign investments and exports is far short of her expenditures, while the income of the United States from similar sources exceeds the outlay for imports and services.

After making every conceivable effort to meet her expenses, Britain finds herself with her back to the wall. She cannot find trade expansion elsewhere, so she must bargain for it among her daughter nations which rapidly have slipped away from her both politically and economically.

RAIFORD CONVICT'S DEATH AT- TIBUTED TO OVERDOSE OF ASPIRIN.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 20.—(UP)—Florida's treatment of its prisoners and the recent death of two prisoners was defended and condemned over the state yesterday.

Governor Doyle E. Carlton welcomed a thorough investigation of the state prison system.

At the prison farm at Raiford, the official version of the death of Frank Powell, Miami, was attributed to heart failure, caused by an overdose of aspirin. At Miami a brother of Powell said the boy's father went to the camp and saw a gash on the face and nose of the youth and another gash partly concealed by bloody gauze.

In Jacksonville, Al Gorman, who has been carrying on a one-man investigation of prison conditions since his grand jury indicted two guards for the alleged torture death of Arthur Mailfert, announced receipt of another hair-raising letter from Chicago gangsters that a car loaded with five gunmen and two new "putt-putts" left Chicago three days ago to defend Gorman from self-announced death threats that have not yet materialized.

In fuel tests of the third DO-X, similar to the one which has flown the Atlantic twice, the 12 engines consumed 476 gallons of gasoline an hour at cruising speed.

Do you remember the days when you first started to smoke?

ALL CIGARETTES tasted somewhat alike to you, but after awhile you noticed that some cigarettes were decidedly stronger than others... Remember?

Assmokers become more experienced, they demand milder cigarettes. Chesterfields are milder. There is no argument about that. Their mildness is a feature as distinctive as their package or their trade mark.

Their tobaccos are mild to begin with. Patient age-

Chesterfields contain just the right amount of Turkish—but not too much—carefully blended and cross-blended with ripe, sweet Domestic tobaccos.

In this nerve-racking time, smokers—men and women—are showing a decided preference for milder cigarettes.

RAIL HEADS URGE EQUALITY IN LAWS

Executives Point Out Advantages Given Other Modes of Transportation

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—The Association of Railway Executives, meeting here today, declared in a statement that the carriers were seeking no favors from the government, but would be able to "surmount the present difficulties" if they were given equality of freedom with all other methods of transportation.

"Obviously," it was added, "they will not have such equality so long as the government is engaged in or subsidizing any form of competitive transportation or so long as the railroads are forbidden to engage in any other form of transportation."

If the desired "equal opportunity" is given the carriers, the statement explained, they cannot then demonstrate their ability to serve the public "at such rates and under such conditions as will satisfy the public's need, and at the same time sustain their own financial integrity, they must expect to give way to more efficient agencies."

The rail officials pointed out that they were forbidden by law to change rates until after 30 days' notice, were requested to carry without prejudice all traffic offered and were forbidden to discriminate in any manner between individuals or places.

SUTTON, GAILLARD WILL BE HONORED AT DINNER TONIGHT

Judge I. H. Sutton, of Clarksville, new member of the Georgia court of appeals, and Judge B. P. Gaillard, of Gainesville, who succeeded Judge Sutton in the northeastern circuit, will be guests of honor tonight at a dinner at the White Sulphur Springs hotel, near Gainesville. Governor R. B. Russell Jr., Justice Price Gilbert, of the state supreme court, and Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of federal district court, will speak.

Judge Sutton was appointed to the court of appeals recently by Governor Russell to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Judge R. C. Bell, of the supreme court as successor of the late Justice James C. Hines. Many Atlantans are expected to attend the dinner. Judge A. C. Wheeler, of Gainesville, will be toastmaster.

MARATHON TO OFFER BEAUTY COMPETITION

A bathing beauty contest will be staged tonight at the marathon dance at the Palais Peachtree, it was announced Wednesday, by the "eleven remaining" girls in the grueling contest. Mack Robertson and Red Ambuster, comedians, will be a part of the show, which also will feature Pat Hamby's Marathon Dance Orchestra and Buddy Wislan, master of ceremonies. Bradley bathing suits, furnished by the King Hardware Company, will be worn by the girls.

A live white baby will be given to some patron Friday night at the contest, which is approaching the 800-hour mark, with two girl solos and nine couples in the grind. Refreshments are being cut a minute per hour each day, and by Friday the contestants will rest only 11 minutes of every hour.

CHRISTOPHER IS VISITOR IN COAST GUARD PLANE

A coast guard amphibious plane alighted at Candler field at 8:10 o'clock Wednesday night for an overnight stop en route from Santa Monica, Cal., to Washington, D. C., on radio test work. Commander C. C. von Paulsen and his co-pilot, Major Luke Christopher, went to the Piedmont hotel for the night. They will take off at 7:30 or 8 o'clock this morning for Washington.

The plane is a high wing Douglas monoplane with a cabin seating eight persons. It is all-metal construction, powered by two Wright Whirlwind motors. It was parked in Beeler Hines' hangar for the night. Christopher, former N. A. C. contest chairman, was director of the All-Georgia Air Tour conducted in 1929.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 20.—(AP)—The Missouri State Life Insurance Company today won its suit to compel Paul C. Kyles, receiver for the National Bank of Kentucky, to pay the company its 67 per cent liquidation dividend on $500,000 in certificates of deposit.

No proof was heard in the case, Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran giving the decision after stating that a hearing could be asked for. The receiver's counsel said a rehearing would be sought.

RELIEF MEASURE AWAITS SIGNATURE

Rate of Interest on U. S. Loans to Firms, States, Yet To Be Fixed.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Fixing the rate of interest to be paid by states, municipalities and private firms obtaining loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under the relief act remained today the biggest point to be settled in administration of the government's great unemployment aid plan.

The president, expected yesterday to put his name to the new enactment, had not signed it late today and White House officials said the president would not place his signature on the bill before tomorrow, and that possibly even more time might elapse. He was allowing ample time to map out reorganization of the corporation's board before making the bill law.

The rate to be paid was a question featuring frequent inquiries at the corporation offices. The bill fixed interest on loans to states and municipalities for relief of destitution at 3 per cent. The rate for loans for public works and to banks, private corporations and railroads is left up to the directors.

Under the old Reconstruction Finance act the corporation directors fixed interest rates at 6 per cent for railroads and 5-1/2 per cent for banks.

One provision of the new act was taken today as meaning states will be in position to obtain very favorable interest rates. In providing loans for public works the measure specifically authorizes the corporation to bid for state bonds.

The section providing for destitution loans and the one providing that the federal government may loan states money to match federal aid highway funds, provides a means of liquidating the debt over seven years. In both instances the measure provides that unless other arrangements are made within two years the federal government shall withhold one-fifth of the annual federal aid highway payments each year for a period of five years.

Payments of money for direct relief to any city or municipality may be made to city officials at the request of the governor of the state within which it is located. The amount, however, is deducted from the allotment to the state and the state is held responsible for it.

The question of regulations under the relief bill has yet not been taken up by the directors and probably will await final action by the president. The corporation also has not decided whether its ban on direct announcements of loans granted will be lifted as to destitution loans and loans to states.

The chances of any one state getting the relief bill passed are slim, or other loans immediately appeared remote today. Applications for large sums will be received and studied. The directors probably will approve sums to meet immediate needs, but without action on the rest.

Information gathered by the Associated Press from all state capitals indicated that a dozen states already intended to ask for more than two-thirds of the $300,000,000, so this sum may have to be provided in several tranches the time all make known their needs.

On the Air Today

The voice of royalty again will be heard in the United States and Canada when King Albert, of the Belgians, speaking from the palace at Brussels, will broadcast his address to the radio audience between 4 and 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, over the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company.

His majesty's talk will be in English, and will last for approximately five minutes. The balance of the half-hour program will be made up of characteristic Belgian music.

A rift in Joe Palooka's troubles on the eve of his return fight with Jack McSwat came with the arrival of a telegram from Ann Howe, his girl friend and heiress to a cheese fortune. She begged forgiveness for their misunderstandings and announced she would be in Cleveland for the match.

Not so charitable, however, is the sheriff of Onionville, who seeks an accounting of why Joe piloted his airplane into the town horse trough. Ann Howe is due to arrive in Cleveland today, and what happens to interrupt their tryst will be revealed over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST at 6:45 o'clock tonight.

That Boswell harmony, garnished by Martha's rhythmic phrasing, muted trumpets and a mellow guitar, will be the feature of "Music That Satisfies" tonight at 8 o'clock, over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST.

The champions of close harmony will sing, in their own arrangements, of "Taking My Baby to Town," "When That Old Man River Flows" and "Farwell Blues." Nat Shilkret will conduct "It's So Beautiful" and "Sweet Georgia Brown."

GEORGE F. WILLIS, CAPITALIST, DEAD

ences and lovely driveways.

In 1928 Mr. Willis re-entered proprietary medicine with Sargon, and he was still active in the Sargon company when he became ill early in 1931. His condition became acute several weeks ago, with complications of the heart and other vital organs.

Mr. Willis was chairman of the finance committee of Georgia School of Technology in 1922 and 1923, and succeeded in raising $2,000,000 for the school. He was made president of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association in 1928 and served for a year at great personal sacrifice.

Mr. Willis married Miss Charlotte Bowers, of New York, in 1904. In addition to his wife, he is survived by three sons, George Francis Willis Jr., John Willis Willis and Richard Willis Willis; his mother, Mrs. Emma Willis; his father, Mr. Willis; and a sister, Mrs. J. H. Byrle.

LABOR DEMANDS FIVE-DAY WEEK

management has been to reduce wages, destroy buying power, increase unemployment and injure both capital and labor.

"Labor holds that the millions of working men and women now idle may properly demand the right to work. Industrial management can make active and vital the exercise of this right by an equitable distribution of the work available."

"Industry, finance and ownership, through their authorized agencies, having failed to meet the situation voluntarily make it necessary to turn upon the chief executive of the nation, speaking for all people and supported by public opinion, to demand, in the name of all of the people, that industrial management institute immediately the shorter work day and the shorter work week upon a national basis."

IL DUCE REVISES CABINET MAKE-UP

Mussolini Assumes Two Additional Follies in Shake-Up of Regime.

ROME, July 20.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini drastically rearranged his cabinet today, ousting five ministers and 11 undersecretaries and taking for himself four important posts instead of the two he has been holding.

Signor Mussolini now is premier, minister of interior, minister of foreign affairs and minister of corporations. The cabinet shake-up was interpreted as merely another "rotation" to bring new blood into the government. It is not expected to mean any change in policies.

Dino Grandi, retiring foreign minister, is the official best known in America who was affected by the shake-up. Signor Grandi visited President Hoover at Washington last year and he played an important part in international negotiations during the last two years, notably at the recent reparations conference at Lausanne and the disarmament conference at Geneva.

May Go to London.

It is expected he will receive some such post as ambassador to Great Britain, in which he would be free to devote all his energies to international conferences in the future. His work often has been praised by the premier.

In addition to adding to his burdens by assuming the ministries of foreign affairs and corporations, Signor Mussolini took over personal direction of relations with the Vatican and of all religion matters. He did this by detaching the department of cults from the ministry of justice and putting it under his own ministry of interior.

The ministerial changes included: Pietro De Franceschi replaced Alfredo Rocca as minister of justice. Guido Jung replaced Antonio Mosconi as minister of finance.

MARTINS ARRIVE, SOUTH SIDE READY FOR 1932 INSOMNIA

Those pesky martins are at it again, just like poor relatives from the country who drop in for supper and stay a month.

For the last several years the tiny birds have pestered the wits out of various sections of Atlanta with their multitudes, and many and sundry devices have been adopted by irritated residents to drive the unwelcome visitors away, only to have the martins fail to take the hint.

This time martins, according to W. A. Johnson, of 914 Washington street, are the number of 800,000 swarmed Wednesday afternoon among the trees at Washington street and Atlanta avenue. Johnson said that the birds were so numerous that pedestrians had difficulty in walking on the sidewalks. Vigorous use of sticks routed the bird visitors, however, and they left, headed in the direction of Alameda street, it was said.

Party Fund Charges 'Absurd,' Says Snell

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Answering the charge made by democratic Representative O'Connor, of New York, that the republican presidential campaign is financed out of the United States treasury, Representative Snell, house republican leader, today said that it was true the democratic war chest is filled by the same means.

O'Connor's statement, made to the house July 12, was based on tax refunds made by the treasury to some republican campaign fund contributors or to companies in which they were interested.

Snell's statement, issued through the republican national committee, listed as beneficiaries direct or indirect, of such refunds within the democratic party, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith, John W. Davis, John J. Raskob and Bernard M. Baruch.

"I know that any contention that the republican administered treasury financed democratic campaigns through tax returns is absurd," said Snell, "but it is no more absurd than Mr. O'Connor's claim that by the same means it has financed republican campaigns."

TRIAL OF LANCASTER AGAIN IS POSTPONED

MIAMI, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—Trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster, former British flyer, for the alleged "loveless" slaying of Haden Clarke, young author, was postponed today from July 28 to August 2 by order of Circuit Judge H. F. Atkinson.

The postponement, second since Lancaster pleaded not guilty at preliminary arraignment, was made at request of State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne, who is to prosecute the case. Hawthorne said Governor Carlson had instructed him to represent the state in a gambling conspiracy trial for Fred Pine, suspended county solicitor, scheduled to start August 2.

James Carson, attorney for Lancaster, objected to the postponement unless his client could be admitted to bail and the trial put off to the November term of court.

MRS. CARAWAY OPENS CAMPAIGN BY RADIO

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 20.—(AP)—Asking for re-election "in my own right," Senator Hattie W. Caraway tonight opened her campaign over radio station KTHS here in a speech in which she said she was not "trying to talk like a statesman but I want to convince you that I vote like one."

The first woman United States senator, who succeeded her husband, the late Theodore H. Caraway, for his unexpired term, told the radio audience of her record and concluded with the statement that "I have proven my fitness by my work and my vote."

Mrs. Marcus Daly Weds.

LONDON, July 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Marcus Daly, 35, widow of the American copper magnate, was married today at Prince's row registry office to George John Diamantoff, a newspaperman.

Among the guests was the Grand Duchess Cyril, of Russia, who signed the register.

2 Bandits Shot.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 20.—(AP)—Two unidentified white bandits were wounded, perhaps fatally, while attempting to rob a confectionery store in Pratt City, a suburb. The men were fired upon by J. W. Greer, store proprietor, after they had held up Greer, another store employee and three customers. Hospital attendants said little hope was held for recovery of either of the men.

5 Prisoners Escape.

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark., July 20.—(AP)—Five prisoners escaped from the Lawrence county jail here early this morning, unlocking their cells with a key made from a spoon.

LOUISIANAN DIES OF GUNSHOT WOUND

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—Antonio Guell, 50, consulting sugar engineer and former professor of engineering at Louisiana State University, died here today of what police said was self-inflicted gunshot wounds in the head.

Mrs. Guell said her husband had been despondent lately because of business troubles.

He was a native of Costa Rica, but came to the United States at the age of 19 to enter L. S. U., where he received a medal for being the "best all-around" student. He was a professor at L. S. U. during the World War. Besides his widow he is survived by two sons, Charles Henry, 17, and Antonio, 19, engineering students at Tulane University.

PERFORMANCE, NOT PROMISES.

There is a disappointing and revealing significance to the people of Georgia in the unanimous agreement of the 10 candidates for governor that the finances of the state government are in so bad a fix. There seems to be no doubt that the state is in worse condition financially than ever before, and that drastic steps are necessary to avoid a serious crisis.

Following the reorganization of the state government and the discounting of the W. & A. rentals by the last general assembly, the people were led to believe that the financial affairs of the state were on an even keel—but now the charge is openly made by one of the candidates for governor that by the end of this year the treasury will show a deficit of $9,000,000.

Much of the confidence felt by the people was based on the belief that sweeping economies had been effected, but recent figures released by the census department in Washington reveal that the cost of operating the general departments of the state increased from $7.05 per capita in 1930 to $7.29 in 1931. In 1917 it was only $2.48.

This is a bad showing for Georgia at a time when state and local governments throughout the country are all reducing the load upon their taxpayers instead of making them bear a heavier burden.

Each of the candidates for governor, in calling attention to the financial status of the state, is promising drastic action, if elected, in putting the state back on a sound financial basis.

Just how this can be done remains to be seen, but it must be on a basis of a rigidly balanced budget, with the cost per capita of departmental operations at a reduced figure instead of an increase, as now.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

By Pierre Van Paassen.

Money.
At the Russian state banks they will exchange your American dollar against two roubles. People on the street will clandestinely approach you and offer you 40 roubles for a dollar. Extremely risky business to make a deal with any of those speculators.

A few months ago an American did exchange his money that way. He was caught and sentenced to a seven-year prison term. The money changer got 12 years.

Still, this money business is a very unfair proposition to foreign travelers. It seems to me. Two roubles means one dollar to an American. But for two roubles you can't buy anything. One rouble is worth 50 kopecks or one dollar and a half. A meal, nothing extraordinary, comes to 8, 10, 12 roubles. Who can afford such prices? The finest hotel in Paris, the Ritz, would not charge such prices.

And as to roubles, why every Russian who meets has piles and loads of them. A boy offering matches for sale to passersby in one of the streets had piles of roubles bills sticking out of his pockets. The boy of the Ritz, a beggar and he actually had more money in there than I possess. A waiter in a restaurant will howl and scrape and rush for you if you offer him an American nickel, but he won't even say thank you if you give him a rouble tip, which for us means 50 cents.

Of course, in America, the rouble isn't worth even a cent. It's literally worth nothing. In Berlin I was offered a thousand roubles for five dollars. Only to import roubles into Russia means heavy punishment if discovered. Discovery is more than likely. The Russian police, the G. P. U., the political police, search you pretty thoroughly at the border. Those boys have got eagle eyes!

News.
A daily paper in the English language appears in Moscow in addition to papers in German and French. The paper is edited by Americans and runs on the American style as against the English style.

The make-up of the paper is excellent. The headlines balance nicely, but some of the articles I am afraid, wouldn't pass muster with the average copy-reader in the U. S. A. I do not mean in so far as their contents are concerned. What I am afraid of is the propaganda. For most of it is purely propaganda. I mean as to style and literary quality. This is bad, frankly bad. At least in so far as the issues I saw were concerned.

What the Moscow Daily News needs, I would say with my usual modesty, is a department entitled "The World's Window" and some well-written features. This would heighten its attraction. This is not pure propaganda. I mean as to style and literary quality. This is bad, frankly bad. At least in so far as the issues I saw were concerned.

Express by Air.
The new express service which will be initiated on August 1 by the air lines coming in to Atlanta is destined to prove as increasingly popular as the air mail.

With arrangements completed for a door-to-door collection and delivery of express to be transported from city to city at a speed of a hundred miles an hour, the new service will mark as great an advancement in the shipping of light packages as the air passenger service and air mail are, insofar as rapid transportation is concerned.

The new service will open a new scope of possibilities in the shipment of perishables. Luscious Georgia peaches and melons, ripened on the vine, may now be picked one afternoon and served the next morning on tables in cities a thousand miles away.

Wild honeysuckle and gardenias, growing in their natural habitats in the south, may be delivered to the far corners of the nation with their pristine loveliness and fragrance unimpaired.

Absent-minded husbands will be able to get almost forgotten anniversary presents delivered on time. Even birthday cakes may be cooked by fond mothers and delivered the day after as delicious as when they came out of the oven, in far distant cities.

He Is Poor Leader Who Robs His Own People To Enrich Another Tribe

By Robert Quillen.

We, the people, own America. That is the theory. But we are merely stockholders in a great corporation. We cannot manage the business ourselves. It is necessary to select leaders and give them authority to manage our affairs.

Whether these leaders are statesmen, bankers or great industrialists, their power is absolute. True, they hold place by the suffrage or silent consent of the people, but for good or ill they manage the nation's affairs as they think best. They do not consult you or wait for your approval.

Observe now what they have done for you. At the close of the great war, America was the richest and most fortunate nation of all time. Everybody was busy, prosperous and safe. We had a great merchant marine, built and building, capable of carrying all of our foreign commerce.

We had the greater part of the world's wealth. We possessed the world's strongest battle fleet, which gave us assurance of peace. Power gave us the respect of the world.

Then our leaders began to sacrifice us. "We have become a world power," they said. "We must think in international terms. We must cooperate with others to rebuild civilization—their civilization."

They sacrificed our merchant marine, and now we pay foreign ships half a billion dollars a year to carry our goods. They loaned foreigners the money to build factories, finance trade and recapture world markets on which two million Americans depended for their jobs.

They made junk of battleships and so weakened our navy that little Japan can dare us to interfere with her looting. Finally, they loaned other nations more than ten billion dollars of our accumulated wealth—without other security than the promise to repay.

Look about you and see the result. If one cent of America's money had been loaned abroad, cash and credit would be abundant and you would have a job.

If we had not financed competitors, we would have market still. In short, if our leaders had thought of America first, we would be prosperous and safe today.

Cooperation for the good of the world has a noble sound. But who else does any cooperating? What nation has weakened itself to please us? What other nation bankrupts its citizens to relieve our burdens? Name one.

Other nations look out for themselves and themselves only. They always will. Must we be pauperized and whipped to our knees before our leaders learn equal wisdom?

No man has the right to starve his family in order to fatten envious neighbors. (Copyright, 1932, for The Constitution.)

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

(Copyright, 1932, by The National Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 20.—Hollywood's elite can't decide whether to go to Ina Claire's opening of "Reunion in Vienna" next Monday night, or to attend Philip Merivale's premiere of "Cynara," which, as fate has it, will be shown at the same time.

Seeing that Philip Merivale and Ina Claire are very good friends, there's nothing he can do to play ball and hope she draws the bigger crowd. This is bad, frankly bad. At least in so far as the issues I saw were concerned.

What the Moscow Daily News needs, I would say with my usual modesty, is a department entitled "The World's Window" and some well-written features. This would heighten its attraction. Health Talks.
BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY
SHOE DYE, DON'T BOTHER ME!
I noted in your column a question about shoe dye poisoning (nitro benzol), and you stated that this cannot be absorbed through the skin, but has to be inhaled. Shockingly, I am afraid, you are wrong.

Three or four hours later he became sick and in less than 12 hours he had turned almost blue-black. This was diagnosed as poisoning from the shoe dye, nitro-benzol. One of our city's most reputable doctors took care of the case, and it was our understanding that the poison had been absorbed through the feet.

A blood transfusion was necessary to clear up the ailment, but my brother finally made a complete recovery. He has demonstrated that he can take it—use the parlance of prison. He shows no resentment because he was assigned to manual labor mending shoes while many other prisoners have so-called soft jobs.

Regarding the human side of Al Capone, Bradshaw said Al is emphatic in his statement that he has through with liquor running, beer rackets and underworld activities. Any suggestion that he was connected with vice rackets in Chicago, and his own verbal frenzy of resentment, he said, "Of course Capone's smile has lost some of its arrogance," said the doctor. "Whose smile would not lose its arrogance under a year of confinement facing him? But Capone has not been 'whipped' by prison life and rather I would say he has resigned himself to doing his time and making the most of it."

Despite the apparent gruff between a gang chief and a missionary of ethics, Capone refused to give credence to Bradshaw's release of him from prison. Bradshaw quoted him as admonishing prisoners about to be freed to avoid criminal activity when returned to city.

"He tells them," he said, "that rackets will get them nowhere except right back in prison, and that if they have a hankering for better return to it and go straight."

"Capone has the bearing and demeanor of a gentleman with no tendency to talk from the corner of his mouth as a majority of underworld characters speak. He uses excellent English and his voice is quiet and modulated."

"They call him the 'big fellow' in prison and many seek him out. Others seem to stand in awe of the once powerful gangster, but whenever Capone notices that attitude he is quick to correct it. He eats the same food other prisoners are served, but never a word of complaint escapes him. He feels that he has been dealt with unjustly by the government, but admits only upon questioning and always drops the subject as one which he doesn't like to discuss."

Capone reads daily newspapers and finds particular interest in sports sections. He scans the baseball summaries closely and with great interest. He has a collection of baseball cards and is a fan of the Chicago team. He is an avid listener to radio news broadcasts and every night at a certain hour he sits in his cell with earphones clamped to his head.

"The most convincing thing about Capone," concluded Dr. Bradshaw, "is his lack of racket and law violation. He seems to know that in the long run it never pays and whenever the subject is mentioned he merely replies: 'Rackets get you nowhere—except here.'"

AL CAPONE STORY SPEEDS FROM PEN

leisure moments he plays baseball and takes regular pen recreation. He is captain and first baseman of his own indoor baseball team, a squad which he organized and coached.

"The report," continued Dr. Bradshaw, "that Capone doesn't like being bossed draws an incorrect inference. No man suddenly snatched to prison enjoys taking orders from a barking guard—but Capone shows no resentment. Occasionally he steps out of line while in marching formation—all new prisoners make that error—and he is rebuffed by a curt command. Al steps back with good humor smiling from his eyes and perhaps with a wink of apology."

Dr. Bradshaw quoted the former gang chief as disappointed because of reports that he "high-hatted" prisoners. "Why will they get the impression on the outside," he quoted Capone, "that I can't take my medicine?"

The physician said that in the few weeks Capone has been an inmate he has demonstrated that he can take it—use the parlance of prison. He shows no resentment because he was assigned to manual labor mending shoes while many other prisoners have so-called soft jobs.

Regarding the human side of Al Capone, Bradshaw said Al is emphatic in his statement that he has through with liquor running, beer rackets and underworld activities. "Whose smile would not lose its arrogance under a year of confinement facing him? But Capone has not been 'whipped' by prison life and rather I would say he has resigned himself to doing his time and making the most of it."

Despite the apparent gruff between a gang chief and a missionary of ethics, Capone refused to give credence to Bradshaw's release of him from prison. Bradshaw quoted him as admonishing prisoners about to be freed to avoid criminal activity when returned to city.

"He tells them," he said, "that rackets will get them nowhere except right back in prison, and that if they have a hankering for better return to it and go straight."

"Capone has the bearing and demeanor of a gentleman with no tendency to talk from the corner of his mouth as a majority of underworld characters speak. He uses excellent English and his voice is quiet and modulated."

"They call him the 'big fellow' in prison and many seek him out. Others seem to stand in awe of the once powerful gangster, but whenever Capone notices that attitude he is quick to correct it. He eats the same food other prisoners are served, but never a word of complaint escapes him. He feels that he has been dealt with unjustly by the government, but admits only upon questioning and always drops the subject as one which he doesn't like to discuss."

Capone reads daily newspapers and finds particular interest in sports sections. He scans the baseball summaries closely and with great interest. He has a collection of baseball cards and is a fan of the Chicago team. He is an avid listener to radio news broadcasts and every night at a certain hour he sits in his cell with earphones clamped to his head.

"The most convincing thing about Capone," concluded Dr. Bradshaw, "is his lack of racket and law violation. He seems to know that in the long run it never pays and whenever the subject is mentioned he merely replies: 'Rackets get you nowhere—except here.'"

GOVERNOR DISCUSSES FARM RELIEF, PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF WATER POWER.

By Walter T. Brown.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 20.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt today discussed with farm leaders and his own state water power authority two of the issues—farm relief and public ownership and development of waterpower.

Edward A. O'Neil, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, after a conference with the governor, said he liked Mr. Roosevelt's attitude toward the farmer. He headed a delegation of farm bureau officials which called upon the governor.

Others were Charles E. Hout, of Des Moines, vice president; Chester Gray, Washington representative, and Charles R. White, of Iowa, N. Y. state president of the bureau. They were presented to Mr. Roosevelt by Henry Morgenthau Jr., state conservation commissioner.

"Of course, our organization is non-partisan," said O'Neil. "I'm an Alabamian and a democrat; Mr. Roosevelt is a republican. We don't speak as to the attitude of the bureau toward candidates, at least, not until after President Hoover has made his acceptance speech."

He added that Roosevelt's acceptance speech was a "good one." "It was a beacon of hope, more apparent, however," he continued, "that the qualification fee is the one the farmer must have. But we are for anything that will equalize the farmer's income and keep the government out of the farm business. We don't want any more of that."

Mr. St. Lawrence river development treaty, signed a few days ago by Canada and the United States, was analyzed by Mr. Roosevelt and the water power authority, headed by chairman, Frank P. Walsh, and two of his four associates, Fred Freestone and James C. Bonbright.

Mr. Roosevelt said the treaty was particularly interested in the fact that the state-owned and operated hydroelectric plant to be located at Massena point, north of Ogdensburg.

The charge of the argument is how much the state shall pay toward the power and waterways projects. The state department fixed New York's share at $150,000,000, which state officials say is too high. Such a capital investment, they argue, would prevent the state from delivering cheaper electricity to rural and urban dwellers.

Mr. O'Neil was asked how Mr. Roosevelt's views on farm relief squared with the attitude of the farm press, which particularly is stinging in the midwestern agricultural belt.

"You know what he has done in New York," was his cryptic reply. "He has taken the farm relief out of the hands of the farm press and put it in the hands of the farmer. He has taken the farm relief out of the hands of the farm press and put it in the hands of the farmer."

Economy To Be Made Key Of Gov. Roosevelt's Campaign

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.
NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—A unique campaign plan, which will launch the democrats on an experiment in national vote-seeking, was announced today by the Roosevelt-Garner forces.

There will be a minimum of organization. Responsibility for the general campaign will be highly concentrated. Economy will be the watchword.

The actual work of seeking support for the New York governor and the speaker from Texas will be left to state organizations. Those at national headquarters will seek to co-ordinate but not to direct this activity.

There will be regional headquarters in each state, but only one general headquarters—in New York city. Two men, James A. Farley, national chairman, and Walter D. Howland, governor's confidential aide, will be the commanders-in-chief of the democratic army.

The national committee as such will have little if anything to do with running the ballot drive. The economics of the campaign will be handled by a special finance committee, instead of by the national committee.

From the start to the finish, a budget system will be maintained. An attempt will be made to keep the cost of the vote-gathering down to $1,000,000. A year ago it was estimated that $8,000,000 would be needed.

Farley will direct the political battle as chairman of the special campaign committee, which is chairman of the national committee. There will be no definite appointments to this campaign committee, everyone working at the national headquarters being subject to recall.

Behind Farley at all times will be a "floating" and loosely knit advisory committee, ready to help settle important questions of strategy and party policy.

This group will have no definite personnel, but will be made up of influential party officials and leaders from all sections. "Liaison Officers."

These "liaison officers" will circulate constantly throughout the country. Farley said the governor would confer with them, as "experts in their particular fields," recognized throughout the country.

Ten or a dozen of these men will be at national headquarters at all times. A council of this group will change from week to week, as the democratic chiefs move to another sector of the battlefield.

It is generally believed Mr. Roosevelt will voice New York's objection to the treaty negotiations before a senate committee which late in the month will hold investigations into the treaty parlays. Senator Borah, Idaho republican, and chairman of the foreign relations committee, will head the congressional body.

Mr. O'Neil was asked how Mr. Roosevelt's views on farm relief squared with the attitude of the farm press, which particularly is stinging in the midwestern agricultural belt.

POLICE TURN BACK VETERANS' MARCH ON WHITE HOUSE

Earlier in the day, Pace had applied to Chief of Police Pelham D. Glassford for a permit to parade and to stage a demonstration in front of the White House.

"Sorry but my orders are to issue no permits," Glassford said quietly. "Well," Pace drawled, "We'll take it to the White House then."

"So you're going to try it?" Glassford laughed. "We'll start, anyhow," Pace replied and left.

Pace then lined up his little legion, told them they would not be permitted to parade but that if they proceeded to the White House as individuals, there would be no law violation.

"We're just night-seeing," piped Samuel Stember, another of the insurgent leaders.

The veterans formed in groups of two and three and started out with flags, banners or music. As they turned down an arterial highway, 50 police jumped out from the basement of the Department of Agriculture building.

They quick-stepped across the green park lawns under the Washington monument and continued to the White House. First to appear of the marchers was the signal for action. The White House gates clanged shut, streets were cleared and all other precautions taken to prevent the demonstration.

So strict was the guard that Senator Hiram Bingham, calling to see the president, had difficulty in getting in. The guards in the grand hall of the White House were stopped by a block away from the White House and was allowed to continue with a permit.

Two hours after the demonstration was scheduled, the three leaders were in jail and traffic around the White House was allowed to proceed as usual.

"This has been an insult to all citizens," said Sylvester McKinney, Oakland, Cal. veteran. "But a few arrests aren't going to stop us. We'll pick the White House up again."

While the small "left wing" contingent supplied the "fireworks" the conservative element among the demonstrators was still embroiled in a factional fight.

Walter W. Waters, commander of the main expeditionary force at Anacostia, has ordered that no food be distributed from the commissary to the veterans from the far west under the leadership of Roy W. Robertson and those under Pace.

If I wake up tomorrow morning and find that I'm going to be taken them up to the Mayflower for breakfast," Robertson said. "When some of these fellows see 500 men they must be scared."

This hotel is one of the largest and most exclusive in Washington. If Robertson carries out his plans, Vice President Curtis may look down from the suite above the same street that picketed the capitol for five days.

"I'm tired of dunning Waters for food," Robertson said. "He's trying to play the dog in the manger and going to be his own fuff. If he wants to start any rough stuff we'll not run."

To hell with Robertson," was Waters' answer.

He is determined to oppose the orders of Police Chief Glassford, who instructed him to serve food to all demonstrators. Waters said that group they were associated with.

Meantime, veterans continued to appear for government funds to transport them to New York. The army estimated 3,600 of the 15,000 had been cared for.

POWER AUTHORITY ASSAILS HOOVER IN TREATY MATTER

power authority communication a "very excellent letter," and would not comment further.

The authority, in its communication, declared that the president's telegram failed to meet the principal issue stressed in your message that in international matters affecting the joint interests and interests of the United States government and one or more of its sovereign states, an understanding of opinion between the federal and state governments was a condition precedent to the conclusion of negotiations with a foreign nation.

Assertion "Explained."
Of the president's assertion that treaty negotiations had been under way nearly three years, the statement said:

"The apparent purpose of this was to imply that the negotiations with Canada were under way prior to the passage of the new treaty act, April 27, 1931, creating the power authority, or your letter of July 11, 1931, addressed to the president."

Among state department correspondents cited as in variance with the Hoover telegram was a letter from Acting Secretary of State William C. Clegg, Jr., August 13, 1931, in which he directed the power authority to reply to his query to the president as to the status of treaty negotiations.

The president referred to one your letter, August 13, 1931, in which you requested the power authority to take up the subject of the waterway. All that it is possible to say is that no negotiations of any kind are going on. It is obvious that when the time comes the interest of New York state will not be neglected."

The power authority referred also to the St. Lawrence treaty, the press August 19, 1931, in which Castle said:

"Governor Roosevelt's letter to the president was based on the incorrect assumption that negotiations had been in progress between this government and the Canadian government in respect to the St. Lawrence waterway. It was clear that the governor had been misinformed since such negotiations had not yet been undertaken."

The St. Lawrence treaty, which was signed on July 18, governs the development of the river as a waterway to the middle west and the building of a hydroelectric plant by New York state. New York is particularly interested in how much of the cost it must bear, as this investment will demand a cost of about $100,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt has contended New York's share should be small enough to permit the state to deliver electricity to farmers and urban dwellers at a lower rate than now is charged by privately owned concerns.

The treaty dispute is the first difference of opinion between the two presidential candidates and its effect is likely to be felt throughout the campaign with Mr. Roosevelt championing public development of power and Mr. Hoover advocating private control.

Hampshire district, announced today he would not be a candidate for reelection. He gave his health as the reason for this decision. Wason completes his ninth term March 4.

'HOME FOLK' ROAR GREETING TO CRISP

Huge Crowd Attends Americus Barbecue, Cheers Candidate.

paigned was to be conducted," he received a prolonged cheer.

"I am sure that if I had been able to stand the plane of this campaign it would be much higher than that fixed by my opponent," he said. "But now that he has stooped to vilification and irresponsible statements I must meet fire with fire."

A voice from the crowd said:

"You and I, Mr. Russell, must meet."

We know what he said was untrue.

Another chimed in:

"And he knew it."

Thus an address which was scheduled for 40 minutes was completed in a little over an hour and a half.

Congressman Crisp brought the longest and most pronounced applause when he asserted that he never had been in any campaign for office, and that from a utility company and he never would. Governor Russell has attacked him for his part in the recent elec-

from a utility company and he never would. Governor Russell has attacked him for his part in the recent federal enactment of a tax of three cents

"I have never before had to have a campaign fund and the one I have at my disposal is made up of contributions from my friends and the checks are from $10 to $100," he declared. "I have never received a cent from a political party or any other utility and I never will."

The crowd roared its approval as Crisp attacked Governor Russell for failure to participate in the 1928 anti-imperialism campaign. U.S. Senator E. Smith and Senator Joe T. Robinson earned the state by the smallest majority ever given a democratic national ticket.

Crisp's speech was so well liked that I did it in that campaign," the candidate declared, deviating slightly from the text of his address. "When democracy was under fire I rose to the emergency and made a number of speeches in this county and elsewhere in Georgia and I also made two in our neighboring states. But my opponent now tells you of his wonderful democracy did not lift his clarion voice to help the party. Whether or not it was a result of my effort and not because he was afraid of me, the candidates carried my county by the usual majority while his home county went into the republican column."

Crisp then brought a audience to his feet when he attacked the governor's failure to carry out his announced reorganization plan and when he proposed that the legislature stand on a number of important issues in the campaign, including the payment of

Time and again as the perspiration poured from Crisp's face, his audience broke into cheering and when a leader urged a rest and a drink of water there were shouts of approval.

Crowd Surges to Platform.

When the address was completed it took Congressman Crisp almost an hour to get off the speaker's platform. So dense was the crowd which surged about him and sought to shake his

The crowd, remarkable for its enthusiasm, was marked not only by the many counties represented but also by the lack of children which so often swell the attendance on such occasions.

Not only was every county in the congressional district well represented but there also were present a number of supporters and well-wishers from Bibb, Baldwin, Lamar, Spalding, Meriwether, Coweta, Dougherty, Crisp and other nearby counties.

Included among the visitors were a number of Atlantans and five carloads of former residents of the district who have been living in Florida for several years.

Floridan Lands Crisp.
 "Though we can't vote in Georgia any more we never have lost our love for Charlie Crisp," a spokesman for the Florida group said. "We are here to let him know that we haven't forgotten him."

Also there were in the crowd a number of candidates for state offices.

as well as B. T. Castellow, of Cuthbert, and Howard E. Coates, of Hawkinsville, both of whom are seeking the seat in congress being vacated by Mr. Crisp. J. Ralston Cargill, of Columbus, the third candidate for congress in the district, telegraphed his regrets at being unable to attend because of a previous engagement. None of the other candidates spoke.

Barbecue Is Enjoyed.

After the address the crowd enjoyed an old-fashioned barbecue. Hundreds of pounds of beef had been prepared by American friends of Mr. Crisp, together with thousands of gallons of lemonade and other drinks. In the afternoon a baseball game between the Americus and Ashburn nines closed the day's entertainment.

A feature of the barbecue was a little girl's hunt for her parents. The child could give only her first name, Martha, and it took an announcer

The band of the Americus post of the American Legion furnished music for the crowds downtown before the address and at the park ball after.

The only hope for the masses of the people is the restoration of government to democratic control; which I am confident will happen in the November election.

Expresses Wright Interview.

In his Blackhawk speech he again asks me the question, if I saw Mr. Preston Arkwright; and his companion, who were traveling through the people-to-try to change their preconceptions, to make them believe I was corrupted by electric light in having been elected by the central committee from the masses; that I had come connected with one, and will not accept any in this race.

As for the poor and fertilizer companies, I have fought the development of Muscle Shoals. I have actively advocated it in speeches, and in the past few months, and I have voted for the government option in this year, since I became a candidate for the senate. I believe it will be a great calamity to not furnish the farmers cheap fertilizer.

Russell Quizzed on Issues.

Now I would like to ask the governor a few questions, and here he answered:

A few minutes of silence Mr. Lucas declined to serve; and then Honorable Lawrence Sanders, chairman of the committee, was placed on the platform committee.

My fellow citizens, I never would have been to place in the responsible position to stand on the platform of my party a gentleman, no matter how able and personally delightful, who has opposed the ticket in the last election to stand in it. I would have had courage enough to have defended him.

I know the Georgia machine is against me, and I have had

Under these conditions, when Mr. Fulmer offered an amendment for the purpose of striking out the tariff in that bill under the existing conditions. When the bill went to the senate, and the senate added other amendments, I was asked by the Honorable W. J. Veren, and Honorable Cason Callaway, and advised them if the senate would add a tariff on the bill, I would not object. I said I would do what I could to have it enacted into law. The senate refused to place a tariff on jute, so the conference failed. I am glad to see the friends were again that the CONFERENCE and the public health department, were greatly reduced.

Mr. Fulmer said: "I wish a demagogue in the senate—one who will bow to the dictation of organized minorities, or individuals, I am not the man. If you want a man who will duck and dodge every issue and not courageously meet them, I am not the man. If you want a man who will courageously meet every issue, I will courageously meet every issue, who will honestly strive to further reduce governmental expenditures, and you can count on me to do it. I am glad to see that I will be grateful for your support."

13 ARE ARRESTED IN 30 DEGREE QUIZ

Indictments To Be Sought
Today in Death of Long Island Prisoner.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Thirteen Nassau county policemen were arrested today on charges ranging from second-degree murder to neglect of duty because of the death of Hyman Stark, a prisoner they are accused of having put through a brutal "third degree."

The thirteen, all arrested in the courtroom at Mineola, were to be treated "exactly like any other prisoners," Justice Meier Steinbrink directed.

Deputy Chief Frank Tappan, a wealthy man who has been in police work only since last January, went

Marshal Laid To Rest
Near Unknown Soldier
LONDON, July 20.—(AP)—The last wish of Field Marshal Lord Plumer, British World War hero who died last Saturday, was granted today with his burial in ancient Westminster Abbey.

He had expressed a desire to be buried near the tomb of Britain's Unknown Soldier and it was in the new "Warriors" chapel, close to this spot, that the field marshal's body was placed.

The funeral ceremony was attended with all military pomp.

Free soon afterwards on bail of $13,000. The others were released as fast as they could make bail.

Four detectives were charged with second-degree murder; Lieutenant Jesse Mayforth and Sergeants Leslie Pearsall, Harry Zander and Charles Wesser.

Their bail was fixed at $10,000 each, and they were released on it following arraignment, a tentative hearing date was set for July 26.

Indictments for second-degree murder, assault, conspiracy to obstruct justice and neglect of duty will be asked at a grand jury hearing called for tomorrow.

Justice Steinbrink suggested to District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards that perjury indictments be considered as well.

Trial Set for Monday.
A police trial of the men is scheduled for Monday, and expected to end in removal of some from office. Abram Stidmore, chief of Nassau county police, made the announcement immediately following the arrests.

Edwards said he would ask a special criminal term of the supreme court and urge that Justice Steinbrink be assigned the case. George Mulry, lawyer for all 13 of the accused policemen, said he would fight this, and oppose also the presentation of the case by Edwards.

Mulry entered not guilty pleas for all the defendants, but said the men were charged in groups. All were free by 4 p. m. after one meal of regular jail fare this noon.

The seven men charged with second-degree assault are Detectives Patrick Shanley, Thomas Chagnon, George Hutchinson, Marcel Bonanza and Joseph Hyzenek, son of the woman Stark and three others were charged with attacking in a robbery; and Patrolmen Lannis Hay and Harry Liljgren. They were released on $2,500 bail each.

Conspiracy Charged.
Patrolman Harold Brietenbeck was charged only with conspiracy to obstruct justice and released on $1,500 bail.

Deputy Chief Tappan was arrested as an accessory to second-degree murder, on the assumption he did nothing to prevent the beating which broke Stark's larynx and caused him to struggle to death. He was charged also with conspiracy and neglect of duty. Bail was $10,000 on the first charge, and $1,500 each of the others.

Justice Steinbrink declared he had "not the slightest doubt Stark died because of what happened at police headquarters." The fact that the man was a criminal made no difference, he said.

"If that could be taken into account," he remarked, "it would be just as justifiable to take these policemen and beat them and sweat them until they confessed their part in this brutal killing."

TWO CHINESE CHARGE
BEATINGS BY POLICE
NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Beatings two Chinese claimed they received in the Elizabeth Street police station will be the subject of assault charges the Chinese will make tomorrow. Assemblyman Edward S. Moran, their counsel, announced today in Tombs court.

Moran did not name the alleged assailants, but said the Chinese claimed they were administered by police in the station and that the Chinese consul general, Henry K. Chong, and officials of the Chinese Benevolent Association, had communicated with Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrony with a view to having departmental charges brought against the offenders.

WOODCOCK SAYS FORCE WILL BE EFFICIENT
WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Although congress reduced prohibition enforcement funds 10 per cent this year, Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, is confident the efficiency of his corps will be unimpaired.

The major part of the savings necessary, he said today, is to be made up in reduced personnel. Last year there was an increase of 15,000 in the number of cases made by federal agents, the total rising from 75,000 to 90,000.

Title for Songame Picture Is Familiar Old Favorite

$1,800 in Cash Prizes for Matching Song Titles
With Pictures; No Outside Work Required;
Early Pictures and Song List Still Available.

BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.

Can you name the correct song title for today's Songame picture?

You've sung this song time and time again, and have, perhaps, danced to its strains. If you can recognize the song title answer, write it on the coupon below the picture, then see how many more of the series of 80 pictures in the Songame you can identify. The person who correctly names the most Songame pictures will receive the first prize of $1,000, while there are 39 more prizes for those who are not quite so successful.

Could you use the first prize of $1,000, or one of the other prizes? You need not be a subscriber of The Constitution to take part in this delightful game, nor will you be asked to solicit subscriptions or do any extra work during the contest.

If you have not already started playing the Songame, you can begin now, and will not be handicapped in any way. The Constitution has reprinted the first 15 pictures for the benefit of related entrants, and these, together with an interesting and helpful compilation of song titles, may be had free of charge at the circulation department, by mail for a two-cent stamp, or at any of the following drug stores:

The correct song title answer for picture No. 27 can be recalled from memory, or it can be found on the value list of favorite songs offered free to Constitution readers. A copy of this interesting list may be had by calling at the circulation department, or by mail for a two-cent stamp.

Don't let this picture "stump" you. If you can't remember the title that fits it, call or send for the free song list now.

INSTRUCTIONS:
$1,800 in cash will be awarded Songame followers who find the most correct song title answers for the 80 pictures, which will be published serially in The Constitution. The first prize is $1,000; the second, $400; the third, $100; the fourth, $50, and the fifth, $25. There are ten prizes of $10 each, and twenty-five prizes of $5 each.

There is no red tape. It is not necessary to get subscriptions in order to qualify for any of the prizes, nor is it necessary to register. Non-subscribers have the same opportunity to win one of the forty prizes as subscribers. There will be no tie-breaking series of pictures to solve, or extra work of any kind to do. The correct answers are what count.

The Songame pictures and answers are not to be submitted until all of the pictures have been published. Then they are to be brought or sent in at one time, as a set.

MISSISSIPPI PLANTER KILLED ON HIGHWAY
GREENWOOD, Miss., July 20.—(AP)—Vernon Jones, 35, Leflore county planter, died in a hospital here this morning shortly after being found on a highway west of Greenwood, severely beaten and shot in the shoulder.

There were indications that Jones had fought desperately against his assailant, who remained unidentified today. Jones' pistol was found on the running board of his car. It had been fired five times.

DRINK-CRAZED FARMER WOUNDS 3 PERSONS
CANDOR, N. C., July 20.—(AP)—Watson Smith, 40-year-old Montgomery county farmer, ran amuck with a shot gun at his home here today, shot his wife and small child, probably fatally, and slightly wounded his brother.

Smith was arrested and lodged in jail at Troy. He was carrying a shot gun and a pistol when apprehended. Police said they learned Smith left home last night in a drunken condition and returned about dawn today.

KNIGHT SAYS FLORIDA WILL BACK ROOSEVELT
NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Peter G. Knight, attorney and financier, of Tampa, declared today the democrats are assured of victory in November if they make prohibition repeal the principal issue.

But whatever the issue, Mr. Knight said, Florida will vote for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and "a repetition of its performance in 1928 is beyond all possibility."

DISPATCHERS SEEK
DAY OF SIX HOURS
CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—The American Train Dispatchers' Association, a railway labor union, today adopted a resolution in convention here demanding "further persistence in the campaign for the six-hour day."

The indorsement was approved by 100 delegates attending the meeting, representing 4,000 dispatchers throughout the United States. All officers, including J. J. Larsen, of Chicago, president; L. L. Darling, of Chicago, secretary-treasurer, and W. J. Potts, of Little Rock, Ark., were re-elected.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—The itinerant singers of ancient days didn't know the half of it so far as itinerancy is concerned. Lawrence Tibbett, American opera, concert and movie singer, could literally travel rings around them.

During the past year he travelled 19,450 miles to meet 183 engagements, journeying by rail, by air, by automobile, and by boat.

CANDIDATE NIX WARNS AGAINST FACTIONALISM

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 20.—In a public address here that was broadcast over Station WQDX, Abil Nix, candidate for governor, pleaded for the co-operation of all classes in the ensuing primary, and asked for the abolition of all factionalism and class prejudices in the selection of a chief executive.

"If we are to emerge from the financial chaos in which the state finds itself," the speaker warned, "we must select a leader that will represent the people. Party differences must be forgotten, prejudiced views and factionalism must not be tolerated. The governor of Georgia must be the state to profit, just what the name implies, the chief executive of the people of the state, untouched by class prejudice or factionalism. When the governor of Georgia becomes the tool of class or faction the honor of that great office dies."

Of the agricultural situation, the speaker asserted that neither he nor any other candidate had any magic formula that could miraculously restore prosperity to the farming interest of the state.

He advocated practical experimentation that would evolve a plan whereby the farmer, with the aid of all government machinery behind him, could find a profitable market for his products. The farmer, he said, slaying for the bare necessities of life, and the underdog with his back to the wall, realize this fact and will never again exchange his vote for political catch words and empty promises.

Of the laborer in the industries of the state, the speaker said that he as governor would oppose any legislation embodying unfair discrimination against the laboring man. "I believe that the principle of the labor union has become established in our economic order, and I will always give fair and just consideration to its advocates," he said.

Mr. Nix asserted that by the use of the same methods of economy used in the conduct of a successful business, any good businessman could carry on the successful administration of the state government.

Stating that the common schools and the universities were interdependent, Mr. Nix stated that neither of these two important divisions of the state educational system should be enhanced at the expense of the other.

MORE INVESTIGATION OF PRISONS PLEDGED
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—Further investigation involving the alleged "torture" murder of a 19-year-old New Jersey convict at a prison camp near here was promised today by Nathan Mayo, member of the Florida prison board.

Mayo, also state agriculture commissioner, said an inquiry would be conducted into the treatment accorded prisoners by Captain J. H. Baker, who had charge of the camp before his transfer to the prison farm at Raiford following a grand jury investigation of the convict's death.

The victim was Arthur Mallfield, of Westfield, N. J., who was found strangled to death in a sweat box at the prison camp, where he was serving a sentence for robbery.

3 FLORIDANS FACE CHARGES OF MURDER
TAMPA, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—Three of five men brought here from Florida east coast cities, were formally charged today with first-degree murder as a result of the slaying of Orlo Johnson, filling station attendant. Johnson was fatally wounded and Irving Matthews, proprietor, wounded in an exchange of shots at the station a week ago.

Those charged with the crime are Ed Lee, 30, Miami, slightly wounded; Long, Hayswood, said had police to be a bootlegger, and Arthur G. Guest, Port Lauderdale, operator of a rental car agency.

NEW U. S. LOAN BANK SCORED BY TALMADGE

Finance Corporation "Colossal Failure," Candidate Tells Wilkes Audience.

WASHINGTON, Ga., July 20.—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was described as a "colossal failure" in an address here this afternoon by Eugene Talmadge, Georgia commissioner of agriculture and candidate for governor, who asserted that through the corporation the government is lending billions to "broke millionaires in the vain hope that some of it will sift down to the masses of the people."

In characteristic style, and speaking in the vernacular that is familiar to the wire grass farmer, Talmadge argued that the principle of the plan is wrong. He said that the farmer and the small-salaried man, who constitute the market of the world, are not getting the benefit of these vast sums, and that prosperity would not return until this market is re-established.

The remedy, he said, lies in reduced taxation made possible by a radical reduction in governmental expenses; in certain tariff reforms and in a general reduction of the present "war time and over-war time freight rates."

"It's not going to help the working man for these broke millionaires, these bankrupt stock brokers and railroad presidents, to liquidate their gambling debts with government money," he said.

"Rich men don't work hard enough to wear out many clothes and shoes, and they don't eat any more than we do. Not as much, because most of them have got dyspepsia anyway."

"The basis of the buying power of this country is in the wallet of the man behind the plow; the man who lays brick, drives spikes or operates a lathe."

"When a man gets money in his pockets the first thing he spends it for is food, and then he pays the rent and last year's doctor bill. Then he buys Mary a dress and himself some overalls. If there is any left he is sure to buy an automobile or some new tires, and maybe some fresh curtains for the living room and a c'air or two."

"Then he looks around, and about the time that that hole in the roof gets big enough to throw a chicken through, he will buy a roll of rubber-rod roofing and patch it."

"It won't be long then before the

MRS. PARKER EXPECTS SOLID VOTE OF WOMEN

Fitness for Place on Public Service Commission Cited in Statement.

A statement made at Waycross Wednesday by Mrs. Calvin W. Parker, candidate for the unexpired term on the Georgia public service commission to which her husband was elected in 1930, said that "it begins to look as she will receive the solid vote of the women and almost the solid vote of the men" against Jule W. Fenton, appointee to the vacancy, and James A. Reid, of Monroe, candidate against her.

"It is not surprising to me," she says in her statement, "that Mr. Fenton is trying to write out of the record his recent statement in which he attempted to belittle my campaign because I happen to be a woman. It was quite evident that he considered women, politically, fit only to vote men into office and unfit to hold office in their own right."

"It will be remembered that my husband, the late Calvin W. Parker, served less than 30 days of the term to which the good people of Georgia overwhelmingly elected him. He had served for some years before his last election and during all that time I was in very close touch with the work of the commission."

MAMMOTH CROWD HEARS
TALMADGE AT DANIELSVILLE
DANIELSVILLE, Ga., July 20.—The Madison county courthouse in which Eugene Talmadge, candidate for governor, was scheduled to speak this morning would not hold one-third of the crowd which had assembled according to Lindley W. Camp and Zach Traywick, the latter tax collector of Madison county. Probably 1,000 people, Camp said, were on the lawn after the courthouse had filled.

Talmadge was introduced by Clarence Adams, a lawyer, as "Georgia's next governor."

1,300,000 TICKETS SOLD FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

Unless there is some objection from the Chattanooga office there seems to be no reason why the Lookouts should not now be announced as the pennant winner for the good year (says you) 1932.

And the Lookouts should be downright ashamed of themselves for being in second place right now instead of first.

Billy Bayne, I think, will be the difference. The winning Lookout pitcher of 1930, who turned in 21 games won that season, is coming back to give the Lookouts an even better pitcher advantage than they had.

The figures show, if there is anything in figures, that the Chattanooga infield outfields and the Memphis foursome. With Doc Prothro out with an injury the advantage is greater. The figures also show there is little difference in the outfield, the Chicks having perhaps a slight advantage there. Chattanooga is stronger behind the bat.

And in the pitching box the Lookouts have an unquestionably stronger staff. Aside from Beck and Griffin, the Chicks can't match the Lookouts' staff. And even if Ray Moss should come around and help things out, there is Billy Bayne coming back to the Lookouts. The team batting averages show the Lookouts ahead and about even on fielding.

While Cousin Joe Engel was here watching his Lookouts in the recent series with the Crackers, I asked him the innocent question whether or not he intended to strengthen any more this season.

"Goodness me, yes," he said profanely. "I am going to strengthen when I can. And if, on August 6, it appears that we can win, I am going to shoot the works and get what it takes. I want those Chattanooga fans to have a pennant."

With Bayne already in and more coming I want to be the first to congratulate the Chattanooga owner on winning the 1932 pennant. How you doin', boy?

THAT CRACKER-LOOKOUT FEUD.
Over in Chattanooga, where the flying pop bottle has been made a legal weapon by a ruling from the bench, the Crackers and the Lookouts will open a four-game series today.

The Crackers took two out of three from the Nashville club, which was the first series won in quite a while, evidencing some improvement, since the Nashville Vols happen to be a first division club.

The partisan flames are said to be burning fiercely in the Lookout village. There will be any number of the good fans there eager to pay 50 and 75 cents to get a chance to deliver a raspberry to Manager Red Barron, the Cracker manager, who tied in with Wally Dashiell, one of the Chattanooga heroes, during the last series here.

The Crackers are likely to find that a few fist fights will draw in more money at the gate than will the ball club. It might not be a bad idea to have one of the Crackers delegated to swap a few rights and lefts with one of the local heroes in each town visited. In this way the Crackers would become a real attraction at the gate.

The Chattanooga baseball park is likely to be the scene of some serious trouble, not because of the feud between some of the players, but because of the pop bottle showers are likely to blossom. Other cities have learned to take their baseball more casually. When the Chattanooga judge praised pop bottle throwing at baseball games in Chattanooga he created a problem which may have serious ramifications before the season is done.

EXPERTS RIGHT AT LAST?
For a matter of six or seven years the experts have been saying that Babe Ruth's legs, built for a burlesque queen, but not for hauling around more than 200 pounds of beef and bone, would give away some year.

This was not very good experting because any man's legs are going to give away some year and there was no reason to make the Babe an exception. The remarkable thing is that they have lasted this long. Perhaps you are not familiar with the Babe's legs? He had the trimmest ankle one ever saw on a big, brawny athlete. No sprinter or male dancer ever had such small ankles.

Baseball fans are no more heartless than any other group of sports fans. They like their heroes only when they are heroes. The minute one begins to go down hill they begin to sound the Bronx cheer. It happened to Babe Ruth.

His fielding had grown sloven and slow. It may have been that the terrific pace set by the flying Jimmy Fox, of the Athletics, was making the Babe footsore and weary. At any rate, reports were that his fielding was so bad in the St. Louis series, just before his injury, that the fans were yelling, "Take him out."

This comes as a sort of shock. Because it never occurred to me that some day they would be shouting to have the big fellow taken out of there. But they will always do it. They yell delight as some poor pug, once a champion, but on the downward trail, gets kicked around the ring by some up-and-coming youngster. They like to jeer the faded efforts of some old timer on the pitching mound who once heard thousands cheer his name and now listens to the jeers in some minor leagues. There is much cruelty in a sporting crowd. But it comes as a shock, nevertheless, to learn that the big fellow was jeered. It also means the years are getting along.

CLARENCE (PANTS) ROWLAND.
Along with the report that Babe Ruth is to be the manager of the Boston Red Sox next season, comes one that Clarence (Pants) Rowland is to be the manager of the Cincinnati Reds 1933.

"Pants" Rowland earned that sobriquet when he was a youngster. He was playing baseball in a pair of his big brother's pants. They were rolled up to the knees. "Pants" Rowland started stealing second. Midway there the pants came down and left him going along like a kid in a sack race.

Rowland has been with the Nashville Vols for a couple of seasons. He was there when baseball was booming. But Rowland set a record for expenses, so the Vol owners say, which will stand for some time. All the boys who had tooth trouble had all fixed up and charged to the club. And you'd be surprised, so Fay Murray says, how many of the boys suddenly found they needed expensive bridges and plates. There were other little items, not to mention salaries, which ran just as high as the boys asked for. That, however, is the Nashville side of it.

Rowland has been with the Reading club in the International league for a couple of seasons. The Keys haven't done so well. Rowland is one of the fanciest dressers in baseball; always offers a good front and is undoubtedly one of the calmest managers in the world. And he could do no worse at Cincinnati than others before him have done.

QUARTER-FINALS STATED TODAY IN TENNIS

Second and Third Round Doubles Matches To Be Played.

By Roy White.

Quarter-final matches of the annual city tennis championship tournament will be played on the Georgia Tech courts today, with second and third round doubles matches slated to follow. The singles will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Billy Reese, the defending champion, plays Britt Knox, a chop-stroke specialist. Harry Gault, a former champion, plays Jack Simpson, and Jack Borkin plays Malon Couris at 3:30 o'clock, with Jack Mooney and Paul Metz slated to meet at 4:30 o'clock in the remaining quarter-final singles match.

All remaining doubles in the first, second and third rounds will be completed during the late afternoon, starting about 5:30 o'clock.

PLAYS TODAY.
Reese did not play Wednesday, after having won two singles matches Tuesday and a doubles match with Couris as his partner against Merritt and Manley was postponed until this afternoon, as Couris has a hard singles match with Tom Tulin.

There were three excellent matches played Wednesday, to complete all singles in the quarter final round. Malon Couris defeated Tom Tulin, 6-4, 6-3, before a large crowd of perspiring spectators. Couris used a slice and placed his forehand drives to good advantage during a major portion of the game.

Tulin, the city junior champion was usually strong with his forehand drives, but was off line with his backhand drives, and it was his inability to consistently return volleys with backhand drive that lost him the match, after one of the game's fights of the tournament.

HAS TROUBLE.
Britt Knox had plenty of trouble in winning, 8-6, 6-4, from Gene Morgan, a member of the Tech tennis team. Knox used a chop stroke to advantage, but was forced to change his style to a lob near the end. Morgan was consistent with his forehand drives, but his service was his weakness.

Paul Metz eliminated Bud Lindsey, of the University of Georgia team, 6-3, 6-1, in a great comeback after losing the first set. It was the longest match of the afternoon and produced some excellent volleys.

In the doubles, Led Bracwell and Bud Lindsey defeated Robert Wynne and Rufus Gowlin, coach of the Commercial High football team, 6-4, 6-1, in a first-round match and entered the third round with a victory over Ford and Tanner, 6-0, 6-1.

Ernie and Chambers defeated Boyer and Williamson, 6-2, 6-3; French and Jackson defeated Brannon and Keiser, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, and Gault and Couris defeated Knox and Couris, 6-3, 6-2, in other doubles matches.

French and Jackson and Jennings and Crawford were one set each and one game each in their second round match when darkness halted the day's play. It will be the first doubles on the card for this afternoon.

TODAY'S SINGLES.
Reese and Knox vs. Gault and Borkin; Gault and Simpson; Borkin and Couris.

DOUBLES.
Reese and Couris vs. Merritt and Manley; Maynard and West vs. Dudley and Chambers.

Rice and Alken vs. Gault and Borkin; Hopkins and Corrigan vs. winner Maynard-West and Dudley-Chambers match.

French-Jackson-Jennings and Crawford.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(P)—Hilena, a fleet, 2-year-old miss, born in the hills of West Virginia, was a surprise winner of the Arlington Lassie stake worth $25,230, richest juvenile stake for fillies in the world, at Arlington Park yesterday.

She conquered the two favorites, Edelweiss and Swivel, in a stunning upset. It was her second victory in six starts. Hilena won by a length and a half over the Wheatley stable's Edelweiss, with Swivel third, three lengths ahead of Colonel E. R. Bradley's Bara Swallow.

Serech, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's crack 2-year-old, finished fifth in the field of five Sunny Queens and George W. Widener's Vespa were scratched.

The victory was the most important of Hilena's career, as she won $17,900 for P. B. Jones, her owner. Edelweiss received $2,500 for finishing second, with $1,500 going to Swivel for third place.

Hilena, ridden by Jockey Sonny Workman, ran the six furlongs in 1:10.2-5, just a fifth of a second off the track record established by Epitaph.

Hilena, closing at 7 to 1 in the betting, paid $13.66 to win, $5.30 to place and $3.16 to show.

Lookouts Acquire Bayne From Blues
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 20.—(P)—The Chattanooga Lookouts have acquired a new southpaw, Billy Bayne, from the Kansas City Blues of the American association to strengthen their pitching staff. President Joe Engel said he would report during the next 10 days but did not announce when he would release to make a place for Bayne.

PAYS HIS WAY.
"One-Eyed" Connelly was detected in a grandstand at South Bend, Ind., and made to pay his way.

Chandler Sent To Binghamton
Spurgeon Chandler, former University of Georgia football and baseball star who has been pitching sensationally with Springfield, of the Eastern league, has been transferred to the Binghamton club, of the New York-Pennsylvania league, since the collapse of the former circuit.

The New York Yankees, who own Chandler, have had him at Springfield since he signed a contract immediately after he finished college. With Springfield, Chandler pitched two shutouts and won several games.

NICHOLS TAKES TOURNEY MEDAL

16-Year-Old California School Boy Stars; Louisville Wins.

SHAWNEE GOLF COURSE, LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 20.—(P)—Louisville's four-man team won the Harding cup in the qualifying round of national public links tournament here today and medalist honors went to a California schoolboy, Joe Nichols, who was runner-up last year to Charles Ferrara.

Nichols, dark-haired youth, was cool and methodical in his play again this year and showed in the 36-hole qualifying round he has improved his game since 1931.

The 16-year-old Long Beach player added 74 today to his 71 of yesterday, and was the only one among yesterday's leaders who stayed on his game. He had some trouble at times, but made an eagle 3 on one hole and collected three birdies to make up for it.

Next to Louisville in the Harding Cup contest, in which 23 cities entered teams, was the Chicago aggregation, one stroke higher than its Kentucky hosts. It was after 6 p. m. when Chicago's last team player came in.

Behind Nichols' low 145 were four players with 146—Ray E. Wiggins, Oakland, Cal., insurance company accountant; Donald O'Bryan, Louisville whisky salesman, his customers being druggists; William Jelliffe, Los Angeles, whose 36 years make him one of the oldest contenders; and Ralph Stratford, Brooklyn schoolboy.

William A. Heinlein, Indianapolis, and Talbot Boyer, Portland, Ore., who had a remarkable string of nine consecutive rounds yesterday, and Phil Miller, Chicago, had 147 today. Then came R. L. Miller, Jacksonville, Fla., with 149.

In the qualifiers, with 150 each, included Horace Lacey, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Among those who qualified with 152 were Bryan, Jacksonville, Fla.; Albert R. Gates, business administrator of the P. G. A., announced today. The qualifying round in each district must be completed before August 1.

The allotments, based on the total entries from each district, follow: 14; Illinois, 8; Indiana, 3; Kentucky, 1; Metropolitan (New York), 14; Michigan, 6; Middle Atlantic, 1; Missouri (Kansas City), 3; Minnesota, 3; Nebraska, 1; New England, 12; New Jersey, 1; North Carolina, 1; New York, 2; North Carolina, 2; Ohio, 6; Oklahoma, 2; Pacific Northwest, 2; Philadelphia, 1; Southeast, 4; Southwestern, 1; Texas, 3; Tri-State (Pittsburgh), 3; Western New York, 2; Wisconsin, 2.

Tom Greavy, Albany, N. Y., won the P. G. A. title last year. He is a 19-year-old, by defeating Densmore Shaute, Hudson, Ohio, in the final match, 2 and 1.

Out-of-Town Boys In Amateur Fights
The outlying districts are still coming strong in the amateur boxing tournament now being staged at Lakewood park every Friday night. The most recent entries are Buford Dunaway, 130 pounds, of Dallas, Ga.; Nathan Cause, 145 pounds, of Wolf Woods, 150, Rome, Ga.; Linwood Oxford, 118, Conyers, Ga., and Kid Martin, 120, Claire Drive.

So many boys have put in their application to box it is getting to be quite a task in matching them. Friday will see several of the earlier failures in the tournament.

He defeated Chief Redwine last week, and Joe Mendoza, the popular Spanish lightweight.

Ted Long will face Jack Jeffries in the other half of the main event, and 10 other bouts are being arranged. All the boys are requested to be at the park by 7 o'clock if possible.

The usual six prizes will be given. Thomas is confident by early next month he will have a team to take the best of either Macon or Birmingham star boxers. Entries should call Hemlock 1121-M.

Carnera Scores Technical Kayo
NEW YORK, July 20.—(P)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, making his first appearance in this country since his unsuccessful invasion two years ago, scored a technical knockout over Jack Gross, of Philadelphia in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Ebbets Field stadium here tonight.

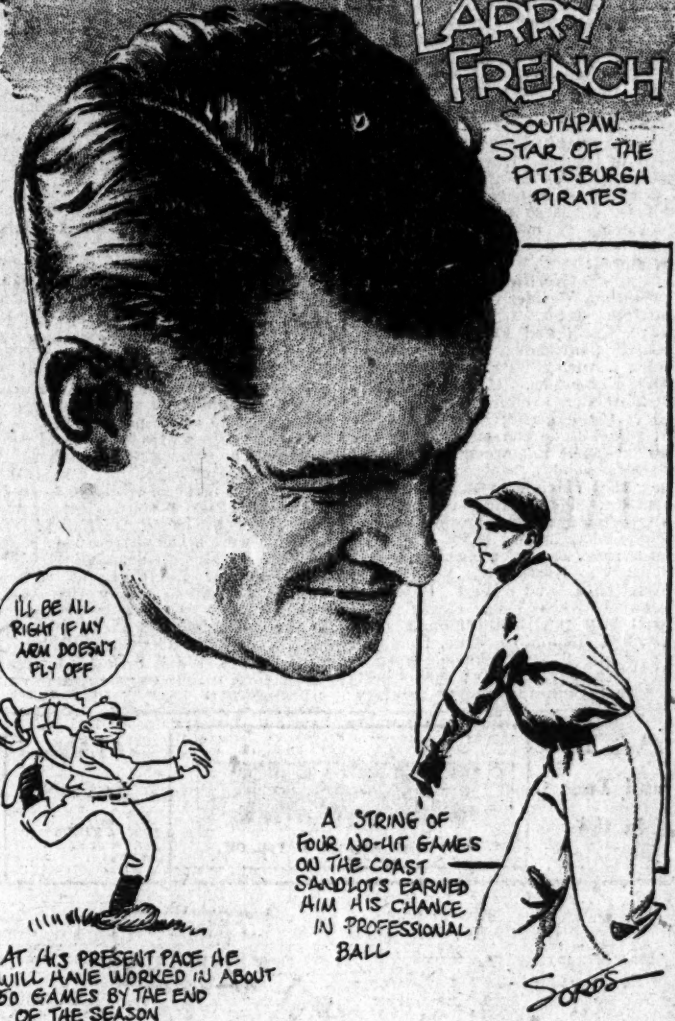

The end came ten seconds before the bell would have ended the seventh round, after Gross' arms from taking a count of seven. Up until the seventh, Carnera's numerous right-handers apparently had very little effect on the Philadelphia fighter.

Gross answered the Italian's rights with an occasional offensive but failed to make the European give ground. In the seventh, Carnera pounded his smaller opponent almost at will, driving him into a corner.

Gross managed to fight his way out of the corner but was groggy. A flurry of rights and lefts sent Gross to the mat. He got up at the count of seven but was out on his feet and the referee stopped the fight.

In the semi-windup Jack Redman of South Bend, Ind., 185, stopped Eddie Benson of New York, 195, in the seventh round of a scheduled eight-round bout.

Carithers Seeks Way To Add Some Weight

He and Cummings, Cracker Star Rookies, Excited Over Prospect of Big League Career.

By Ralph McGill.
Johnny Carithers, who has already been purchased from the Crackers by the Chicago White Sox, and Johnny Cummings, who will be purchased if he is hitting .300 on August 1, are as excited as any other baseball kids would be over the big league chance that is ahead.

Next to the deal for the two Crackers was carried exclusively in The Constitution some days ago. And since that time the two Cracker rookies, the only ones with a real chance to go up, have been stepping on the gas, trying harder than ever, perhaps a bit too hard.

Carithers, a left-handed pitcher, will need some more weight before he is able to make the major league grade. Johnny measures his gain in weights by carats instead of by pounds. Last winter Johnny Carithers weighed 121 carats, or about the weight of the stone you gave the one and only for that engagement.

"I am planning to go on a diet this winter," said Carithers, before he left last season. "As soon as the baseball season is on I am going to start serious eating." I plan to eat a steak smothered with pork chops for breakfast. I will also eat bananas and cream.

For lunch I will have a steak and mushrooms and five kinds of potatoes, rice, gravy, and bread. "I think I will install the English system here of tea in the afternoon. I will have no tea but instead will eat five potatoes, a quart of milk, turkey and dressing. For dinner I eat a real heavy meal."

GAINS NO WEIGHT.
Carithers is one of those young men with flat stomachs who find no trouble at all keeping them that way. They eat as much as the largest man on the team, get heavy on potatoes, rice and gravy and bread. And yet gain no weight at all.

It's one of life's little ironies that there are people like that who wish to gain weight and can't while there are hundreds of big guys and ladies who would give up anything to get their fill of French fried potatoes, biscuits and gravy and other trimmings.

Johnny Cummings is one of those fellows born with the average weight of a good-sized boy, about 185 pounds. He has no trouble with his weight. He is a bit deaf but this does not handicap him at all.

FINE WORK.
Cummings' work in the outfield has been exceptionally good for a youngster making his first real bid in class A baseball.

Both of the young players who will get a major league trial are ex-collapse players. Carithers went to Georgia. He is a native Georgian. Cummings is a Memphis boy, one whom Johnny Dobbs picked up. He went to Vanderbilt University.

Cummings, incidentally, was trying to become a pitcher when Johnny Dobbs saw him hit and field. "You're an outfielder," said Dobbs.

Two Atlanta players who went up to the White Sox during the past two years, Infielder Luke Appling and Pitcher Paul Gregory, have made good. The White Sox naturally look with favor on the Atlanta prodigy.

Local fans will follow the remainder of the Southern association career left the boys with unusual interest. And you may be sure the boys are even more interested in finishing well.

J. HALVERSTADT AGAIN ADVANCES

Frankie Parker Also Wins in Tourney at Asheville.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 20.—(P)—Frankie Parker, young New Orleans star who will represent this country in the Canadian championships next week at Ottawa, along with George Lott, of Chicago, today won his fourth-round match in the North Carolina open tennis tournament at the Biltmore Forest Country Club over G. B. Randall, Washington, N. C., 6-0, 6-0.

The top seeded player experienced no difficulty whatever in defeating Randall and only in four games did the score reach deuce.

Ted Burwell, of Charlotte, N. C., seeded No. 2, downed Harvey Harris, Raleigh, N. C., 6-4, 6-3, and Lenoir Wright, Charlotte, trounced Tunch Cox, Asheville, N. C., handily by scores of 6-3, 6-3.

Robert Letty, Bryan, Chattanooga star who was late arriving, was forced to play three singles matches today in order to catch up with the others. In a first-round match he defeated Add Brenner, Marion, N. C., 6-2, 6-1, but his second-round battle with Burtz Boulware, Tallahassee, found him being pressed to the limit in the second set to win, 6-4, 12-10.

Bryan then took George Rogers, Asheville, former Duke University star, into camps by scores of 6-3, 6-2. John McMillard, Fort Worth, Texas, disposed of Ray White, Miami, 6-2, 6-7, 6-4, and Jim Halverstad, Atlanta, trounced Dave Moran, Asheville, in a brilliant duel, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1.

Karl Hodge, St. Louis veteran, trounced Bud Lassiter, Charlotte, 6-1, 6-0, and Dick Covington, Asheville, won over Reuben Robertson, Asheville, 7-5, 6-1.

OBIE TO FIGHT FOR TITLE HERE

Beast Obie, of Atlanta, will meet Willie Bush, of Miami, Fla., in a 12-round bout for the colored heavyweight championship at the city auditorium next Monday night. In the feature of Cleve Roby's 50-round boxing card.

Obie will be making his first appearance here since he went east and fought 12 bouts without a defeat. Now connected with the Jess McMahon boxing stable of New York, Obie is making a southern campaign during the summer, after which he will return to the east, where McMahon has lined up a series of bouts expected to put him far toward the world's championship.

Fans here remember Obie's great battles with Al Walker, Bob Lawson, Seldon Heard, Beart Wright, Jack Townsend and Ace Clark. He has appeared here with Max Schmeling, Big Boy Burlap, Leo Williams, Eddie Cox, Swede Anderson were kayoed in one round each.

Willie Bush, who has a little trouble in disposing of Simpson Clark here Monday night, is very anxious for another crack at Obie after fighting him to a draw last summer. Bush is no longer the underdog he once was. He is now a fifth ranking light-heavy of the world; Unknown Winston, and fought a draw with Charlie Berlinger, the Canadian champion.

Promoter Roby is anticipating a large crowd for this bout and for the reason is putting this card on in the city auditorium, where the new crowd system makes it very pleasant. Tickets have been placed on sale at Five Points Soda Co., Roby's arena and Yates & Milton pharmacy. The balance of the card will be announced later.

T. Sewell Released To Beaumont Club

DETROIT, July 20.—(P)—Charles F. Navin, secretary of the Detroit American League club, today announced that T. Sewell, right hander recently recalled by Detroit from Toronto as a relief pitcher, has been released under option to Beaumont of the Texas league.

At the same time Navin announced that Bob Coleman, formerly a catcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cleveland Indians, has been signed as first coach for the remainder of the season. Coleman was with the Decatur (Ill.) team of the Three Eye league until the league disbanded.

Six Atlanta Boys Win Camp Prizes

Six Atlanta boys have won prizes for winning various activities at Camp Highland Lake, near Hendersonville, N. C., during the first two weeks of the regular summer season, it was learned Wednesday.

Luther Allen won prizes for swimming and rifle marksmanship; L. S. Costley Jr., won the archery award; W. R. Brewster Jr. was winner of an archery marksmanship prize; C. M. McQuarrie Jr. and C. M. Mount Jr. won awards for scholarship and Sam Young won a prize for archery and swimming.

The camp is operated by officials of Georgia Military Academy, College Park, and will continue through the middle of August. A two weeks football training for prospective members of the G. M. A. team has been scheduled for the first two weeks in August.

Col. McCombs, after receiving a letter from the Babe today, said her story bore out his previous conviction that some of the officials at the event tried to keep the D'Las girl from winning, principally by running the events close together in order to tire her.

Miss Didrikson said in her letter that she first threw the javelin 102 feet and was awarded first place in that event. Then, she said, Fred Steers, A. A. U. official in charge of the meet, ordered the event held again. Once more, she won, but only with a throw a little better than 139 feet.

She said she won the broad jump with 17 feet 64 inches but "they took it away from me because I wasn't in the trials."

ALL RECORDS FOR ATTENDANCE ARE SHATTERED

Events 10 Days Off. Texans Lease Hotel for Their Stay.

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—(P)—With the opening day of the Olympiad exactly 10 days hence, advance ticket sales passed the 1,300,000 single admissions mark today, thereby exceeding all attendance marks of the modern games.

Zack Farmer, general manager of the local organizing committee, predicted the Olympic stadium will be a capacity of 105,000 seats would be a sell-out for the opening ceremony July 30.

Ticket sales have doubled and redoubled during the last few days with a steady stream of purchases. The Los Angeles office will have large blocks have been sent out of town.

LEASE ENTIRE HOTEL.
More than 700 Texans have leased an entire hotel here, and are coming in a steady stream to attend the Olympiad. Approximately 1,000 rooters from Japan are expected within the next few days.

While the sales total to date is almost double that of the entire attendance of the 1928 games at Amsterdam, Farmer points out that there is still plenty of room for those who wish to see the games. The total daily capacity of the various stadia for the events is approximately 400,000 and the championships spread over a 16-day period.

The opening ceremony is showing the heaviest sale with the track and field events, the demonstration American football game, swimming, basketball and wrestling attracting the attention of the purchasers in that order.

A temporary hull marked the foreign invasion of athletes today with only Norway and its team of five adding its bit to the international settlement, which has grown past the 700-mark with such large teams as Germany, Great Britain, Canada, the major portion of the United States, Mexico, Brazil and South Africa as yet unreported.

HURT IN PRACTICE.
The foreign contingent experienced its first misfortune yesterday when Colonel Giuseppe Pirzio-Biroli, 52, captain of the Italian rifle team, slipped and fell, fracturing his right arm at the Olympic shooting range while directing his marksmen in practice.

The first it was thought Colonel Pirzio-Biroli's injuries were only superficial, but an X-ray examination today showed he had suffered a fractured vertebra and will be forced to remain in the hospital here for three months.

Other hospital cases have been of a trivial nature. Federico Kieger, Argentine hammer thrower, has been suffering from blisters as a result of too small shoes, while Albert Michelson, member of the American marathon team, had an infected toe and a sprained ankle. He is expected to be moved, Bill Chisholm, American walker, was confined in the hospital for two days with a slight foot infection, but is back in the heel-and-toe training grind again.

Tomorrow's list of arrivals will include 18 members of the Canadian swimming team, Germany's team of approximately 100-10 members of the Czechoslovakian team, and stragglers of the American, Greek and Argentine teams.

Sarazen To Qualify For U.S.P.G.A. Play

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 20.—(P)—Gene Sarazen, British and American open golf champion, today said he would not accept an offer of the Metropolitan Golf Association to be exempt from qualifying for the U. S. P. G. A. championship at St. Paul next month.

"If I can't go to Rockville Center, N. Y., August 10 for the metropolitan district qualifying and win a place for my section, then I don't deserve to play for the title," he said.

Sarazen, here for an exhibition match, said the championship was the only one he was expected to participate in this summer.

Piedmont Golfers Continue Qualifying

Piedmont park golfers will continue through Sunday afternoon to qualify for play in the annual club championship tournament, which starts match play next Monday afternoon.

Every member of the association is eligible and urged to participate in the annual event and registrations are being taken at the clubhouse through Billy Wilson and H. O. Davis Jr., the club professionals.

The players will be grouped into flights of 16 and there will be as many flights as necessary to take care of every entry.

One week will be given over to each round of play, and the every player will have ample time to compete for the highest club honor.

Prothro Injured, May Be Out Weeks

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 20.—(P)—Injured in the second game of yesterday's double-header with New Orleans, Manager Doc Prothro, of the Chicks, may not be able to return to the lineup for several weeks.

Prothro announced today that his place at third will be filled by Herber, who is recovering from a sprained ankle. Prothro suffered an ugly gash on his left ankle in sliding into third base when he piled up with Eddie Hock of the Pelicans.

BLOXSON RELEASED.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 20.—(P)—Danny Bloxson, a shortstop from the Chicago White Sox, who was loaned to the Southern association, purchased by the Des Moines Western league club recently, was released outright today.

TRAINER QUILTS.

LATONIA, Ky., July 20.—(P)—Walter W. Taylor has quit as trainer for P. A. Careau's string of racing mounts. Latonia's stewards suspended him for 20 days yesterday for poor showing of Vesta in the first race of Saturday's program. Taylor was in previous start. Vesta failed to place.

Tony Brooks was 18 when her father and mother were killed in an automobile accident at Centerville, her home town. She had intended to study art but her capital had divided to $12 before she got a job in Madame Simpson's dress shop in New York. Her frankness in telling women she got a job in the same day that Leslie Lee Moran, a model, was discharged. Lee had no money and Tony shared her third-floor back room at Mrs. Higgins' with her. Before Tony got a job at an art gallery, Lee became a taxi dancer at El Tige, where she met Adam Leonard, whom she called Uncle Les. He was a kindly looking man between 30 and 40. Tony Stewart, a young engineer in love with Les, missed her at one time and tried to bring herself to tell Les. Les had insisted that Tony go out for an evening with Leonard and an out-of-love friend, Donald Kemp. As they were leaving a night club, Leonard's wife saw them and made a scene. Leonard had been unhappily married and Kemp, a lawyer, arranged for Mrs. Leonard to get a divorce. Les astonished Tony later, announcing that she was going to pose as the correspondent and expected to receive $5,000. She moved to an apartment, M. Montieu, a client of Kemp's, gave Tony a chance at dress designing in his studio and she attended art school at night. NOW GO WITH THE STORY.

Donald Kemp was waiting for Tony after class.

"I hope you'll forgive me for turning up this way, without your permission," he said, when he had singled her out unerringly from the chattering stream of students that issued through the entrance of the lounge into the street.

"The matter was pressing, or I would not have come. Shall we walk away while I explain?"

"By all means. I'm tired of sitting and craning my neck," Kemp tucked her hand under his arm. She liked his briskness, his penchant for diction, even so insignificant an incident as a walk along city streets. He did not ask which way they would go. He went. Others accompanied him or followed.

"I've been called home on business which cannot be delegated to others," he began when they had caught street cars and were swinging along. "I will attend to this business in the shortest possible time compatible with its eventuating—properly." They were crossing a street. "Tell me, Tony, are you going to miss me a little?" He helped her up, ever so lightly over the curb.

"A little?" Tony felt that something solid, something substantial and dependable was being pulled from beneath her still uncertain feet. "I'll miss you a lot. I hope you'll be coming back—soon." Her evening when she was not at class, would be empty. There would be no one to talk to over when work snarled at the studio. Donald Kemp had given her a great deal of himself, comradeship. Mature advice, acquaintance with a world she had never known, a world of sole meunier, crepes Suzette and what they represented in the scale of living.

"Sooner than soon, if I can manage it," Kemp pressed her arm. Then, hesitantly, "I wonder if you would resent my asking you something personal?"

"Ask me and see," Tony challenged.

"I know you are a stranger in the city. What you do with your time when you aren't busy?"

"I was thinking of that. You've been so kind. We've had such interesting times together. I've forgotten what it's like to be lonely."

"So have I. I've been lonely, Tony. In spite of the law which drives me at top speed to keep up this practice. The law and other things that complicate my life. I shouldn't want to think of you as being alone and unhappy. And yet I'm not enough not to want others to be doing the things for you I should like to do."

His frankness disarmed her. Was he jealous, anticipating what or who might take his place in her life? No, not that. Jealousy was mean and skulking. His admission was merely an expression of his dominance. He disliked to think how that which touched his life pleasantly might escape him.

"I've an idea," she said. "Mr. Montieu gave me a very nice little bonus for a sketch of an evening gown. He calls it 'Graydawn.' I'll use the money for extra classes at the League."

"I don't know—all work and no play."

"Oh, but it wouldn't be work at all. It's really play, doing what you like most. Don't you think?"

Kemp agreed that it very often was just that. He seemed relieved, almost gay.

"Then when I think of you I may visualize a very earnest and a very beautiful young girl bending over her drawing board."

"Ernest, perhaps," Tony agreed, "but hardly beautiful."

"That is modest of you, but not true. You are beautiful, Tony. A clean fresh beauty, refreshing to the mind, soothing to the senses. Somehow you remind me often of an orchard I knew as a boy. I used to go there in the early morning when the apple trees were in blossom. I would sniff them until my head swam. Then I'd lie down, let the petals fall on me and pretend they were snow. And I'd be heady all day from drinking in their sweetness. You're like blossoms—just as dainty and sweet and heady."

She was a little frightened. Donald Kemp had never spoken like this to her before. Beauty moved him, but not to speech. However, she was sure she was not beautiful. Was Donald Kemp "crazy" about her, as Lee had asserted? Was he seeing her through eyes of love that invested even the most commonplace with beauty? He must not spoil their nice friendship, their calm companionship. Love was feverish and poignant. It could hurt so devastatingly. He would be hurt for she and no love to offer him in return. She owed him so much—her place at Montieu's, her study at the league, her escape from what easily might have been long years of mediocrity if not of immediate failure.

"That's a long speech and a very pleasant one," she laughed. "Tony's leaving at once?"

"Tomorrow. There's an express at ten that will save time. I should like to make the next day so we might have a long evening together, but I'm afraid it can't be arranged. He waved off. If she encouraged him he would wait for that long evening together.

"The sooner you go, the earlier your return," How true! It was the best she could manage. Donald Kemp must go. She wanted him to go.

He listened with his heart, not with his ears. "Tomorrow then. The Blue Arrow express was always crowded. He left Tony at the chipped stone stoop. "Good-bye," he said. His hand cupped her chin, fleetingly, tilted her face to meet his exploring gaze. If he tried to kiss her—he didn't. Her cheek burned where his fingers had touched it. His fingers were brands of fire.

Tony reached the top of the stoop and remembered that she had used the last of the coffee this morning. Better dash down to the delicatessen and get a fresh supply.

Halfway up the street, a muffled figure's head and tall Shadow. Tony hesitated at the first sight of Mrs. Higgins' stairs.

"Tom."

"Tom."

A breathless murmur. A drawing together, irresistible. She must run. She must turn and run. If she didn't she would know. She had given her promise to Lee.

It was midnight. Tony had noticed a clock on a restaurant window a few minutes before. What was Tom Stewart doing in her street at this hour—looking for Lee? Of course, he must have missed her. His hand thought she might have come to Mrs. Higgins. Tony wanted to appear to be so.

Continued Tomorrow.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

To one man his wife is a convenience, pure and simple. She keeps his house, presses his clothes, darns his socks, sews on his buttons, prepares his meals, bears his children, disciplines them, amuses them, trains them, rears them, and with all she is at his beck and call. She is a Norman draught horse that moves his heavy loads, she is a factory that runs the machinery of his life, she is a bird that does his bidding, a slave that toils for him, yet she is merely a woman that loves him and for this love she consents to pay with health and strength and life itself.

To another man his wife is a jewel which he has bought and paid for. He is a miser for whose brilliance he has bargained. He holds her up for the world to admire and he glories in the envy and admiration that gleam in other men's eyes when they see her. Here is his pride personified. Here is his success glorified and here is his ambition epitomized. He is satisfied with nothing less than the best in private life and in social life and when wives parade he gets the prize.

To one man his wife is a kitten to be petted. He opens the door of his life and she runs in joyfully. She rubs her head against him and purrs contentedly. He strokes her affectionately and somewhat condescendingly. Her helplessness elicits all his tenderness and playfulness, beguiles the youth in him. She is truly a wife to love and pet and protect. Is not this enough to satisfy many a man? Then he opens the door of his life, puts her out still purring, closes the door, leaving her on the doorstep until he feels the impulse to take her in again.

To another man his wife is a watchdog, and there is no more faithful wife. She goes on duty directly after they are married and so expert does she become in her good office that it is practically impossible for her husband to get out of her sight or out of her hearing. No matter how many of 3,000 or 4,000 or 5,000 she hides, her eyes are trained to round those corners. She can look at him and make him drop his "bone." She can yep at him and make his ears droop dejectedly. She can bark at him and scare him to death. No man would knowingly choose her, but having chosen her his feet are kept in the straight and narrow path.

To one man his wife is a refuge, to which all defeated men would fly. She has healing for his sorrows. She has courage for his defeat. She has pity for his weakness and fondness for his

Sunny Side Up

Carrots and green beans make a pleasant change from the combination of carrots and peas. They should be cooked separately, and may be either creamed or buttered after they have been drained. Carrots is another favorite preparation at this time of the year, and is especially good when made from the fresh young cabbages to be had now.

man elections are decided on July 31 and adhere to the view that the trend will be determined by the political outcome in Germany. A victory for the conservatives, we believe, would please several millions of expatriated German funds and cause an international buying movement in commodities. It is decided to trend to rationalism, and on the other hand, would jeopardize Germany's private financial obligations and would bring about Germany's unfavorable reputation in world markets.

LIVINGSTON & CO.
NEW YORK, July 20.—In very quiet trade the trend of stock prices today was definitely higher bringing the averages close to their previous levels. The market was little except for bonds, which were again strong. Action of the United States Steel preferred was the last stock to be sold. It was felt that the regular dividend may be paid notwithstanding the fact that the company's second quarter and worse results expected for the third. This would have a very bearing on the price of the stock.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The favorable action of the market under crating conditions, mentioned here last week, and which has continued from the first of the month, has been maintained during the week ending today. The market advanced 5.20 points last Wednesday to 1.00 and continued to rise today. Thursday, advanced 1.13 of a point on Friday and declined about a point and a half on Saturday. The market is now at 1.00 and 1.00.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(7)—Prospects of a break in the heat wave, and likelihood of moisture shifted grain values downward today. Establishment of a dictatorship in Prussia.

While a sustained advance in the stock market will likely be predicated on actual business improvement, a substantial foundation has been laid upon which securities could logically advance when corporate earning power begins to show signs of improvement.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The market is beginning to feel the relief of the adjournment of congress. Trading is slightly more active and prices firmer. There has been better buying in the railroad shares and in stocks like American Telephone International selling or corn to arrive was on a rather liberal scale, notwithstanding complaints from various sections that the crop was firing from excessive heat and drouth. Scattered selling of oats and rye found buyers at demand meager.

"I overheard your words, Colonel. It was I who had the luck to silence those machine guns. I have just come from behind the Red's lines and perhaps I can help you," said Tarzan, after the major introduced him to the commanding officer.

Briefly, Tarzan related what had brought him out alone in pursuit of the Reds. They listened sympathetically as without apparent emotion, he told of the savagery wrought during his absence from home and how——he had sworn vengeance upon the murderers of his mate. When he finished, the Colonel asked: "And now you have come to join us?" "No, not regularly," replied the ape-man. "I must fight in my own way, not yours, because—"

—whenever I wish I can enter the Red's lines." "That is not possible," said the British Colonel. "I have just lost three of my most experienced men trying it." "Is it any more difficult than entering your own lines?" challenged Tarzan.

DISMISSAL REFUSED IN APPALACHIAN SUIT

Newton Baker Defends Power Utility in Fight on U. S. Group's Rights.

NORFOLK, Va., July 20.—(AP)—Without attempting to discuss the constitutionality of the federal water power act, Federal Judge Luther B. Way today overruled a motion by the federal power commission to dismiss a suit in which the Appalachian Electric Power Company is asking for an order to restrain the commissioners from interfering with the construction and operation of a gigantic water power project on the New River.

With Judge Way's ruling, the case now will be heard before him, in the western district of Virginia, on its merits and the facts in the case, unless the power commission appeals from his denial of the motion to dismiss the action. Counsel for the commission indicated this might be done. Judge Way is sitting in the case for Judge John Paul, of the western district.

Judge Way's action brought exceptions to his rulings from Hudson Thompson, special assistant to the at-

Wise Bootblack, Only 9, Balks "Kidnap" Plot

NEW YORK, July 20.—(UP)—John Boghin, 9, went to sleep on the West End subway train. When he awoke, two men and a young woman had him in charge and were hustling him along a street.

John waited until he saw the green lights of a police station and then yelled his mightiest. "They're kidnapping me," he shouted. "They're taking me for a ride."

The police halted the party and made inquiries.

"Way, the little fellow is lost, and we were just taking him to the station," the adults explained.

"Lost, hell!" said John. "I'm a bootblack. I know every street in the city. Can't a tired business man go to sleep on the subway without getting kidnapped?"

STREET—The friends and relatives of Mr. J. M. Street, age 89, of Stone Mountain, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Street, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goddard and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hardman, Stone Mountain; Mr. L. Richardson and family, Redan, Ga.; Mr. N. T. Street and family, Conyers, Ga.; Mr. R. N. George and family, of Tucker, are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. J. M. Street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock, eastern time. Services will be conducted from Bald Rock church. Dr. Herty to the second best student in forestry.

Four prizes for excellence in school forestry will be announced August 14 at the close of the vocational forest camp at Young Harris college. The state department of forestry and geological development announced Wednesday. Prizes include $100 from Dr. Charles H. Herty to the best work in forestry, $50 from Dr. Herty to the second best student in forestry.

Firemen were called to a store building, at 60-71 Piedmont avenue, S. E., on Tuesday afternoon and again on Wednesday afternoon. The fire was caused by carelessness with hot ashes and might have caused considerable damage but for prompt work of the firemen. Neighbors saw smoke pouring from the chimney and turned in the alarm. A blown-out flame was the cause, and no damage resulted.
